Vast Slaughter of Nazis Approaching Stalin Line

Canadian and Associated Press

Hitler's invasion armies are approaching the main Soviet defence ramparts—the mystery-veiled "Stalin Line"—the Russians reported a vast slaughter of Nazi troops in fighting along the Berezina River, 400 miles west of Moscow.

A Red army bulletin said "thousands of German dead, blazing tanks and enemy aircraft" littered the battlefield.

Little has come out of Russia on the Stalin defence works extending from the Ukraine to the Gulf of Finland. The works stretch northward along the Dniester River, then through Zhitomir to the Dnieper River, then to Vitebsk and Pskov and then eastward to Lake Peipus and the Gulf of Finland along the eastern border of Estonia.

The Russian army declared the three main German offensives into the U.S.S.R., had now been checked by counter-attacks and that in one sector 160 Nazi tanks had been destroyed. The communique told of the winning of new fighting positions in the north, counteraction of an offensive against the Ukraine in the south and a "heavy defeat" of the Germans in the battle of the Berezina.

Hitler's headquarters claimed that "pursuit" of the Red army was proceeding along the whole eastern front. The Nazi high command declared German forces driving toward Moscow now had crossed the Berezina River at several points.

Chief Nazi Thrusts On River Front

The main German thrust toward Moscow apparently centred in alternative blows at Borisov, 40 miles northeast of Minsk on the road to the Soviet capital, and at Bobruisk, 90 miles southeast of Minsk. Both towns are on the river which was no great obstacle to Napoleon on his way to Moscow but ran red with the blood of his men when they fought their way across improvised bridges on the way back.

Eyes on Japan As Battles Rage

In the Far East, speculation arose today that Japan may be preparing to block any United States attempt to send aid to Russia. A Tokyo cabinet spokesman said the Japanese government was seriously considering the possibility of American supplies reaching the U.S.S.R. via the Pacific port of Vladivostok, and the government was discussing the question of extending the limits of Japan's territorial waters beyond the internationally recognized three-mile zone. (See story on page 12.)

Planes, Artillery Aid Troops

"In the Bobruisk direction, fighting continued," said today's Russian communique. "Our troops, effectively supported by our artillery and the air force, inflicted a heavy defeat on the enemy."

It appeared that the Russians might now be throwing themselves at bridgeheads the Germans claimed to have established on the eastern shore of the Berezina, at either or both Borisov and Bobruisk.

From the Dvinsk sector of Latvia the Russians reported a successful battle with advanced and reconnoitring German detachments which permitted them to take up "new fighting positions." Last night the Russians had acknowledged Nazi crossings of the Dvina River at two places.

Bitter Struggle In South Poland

In southern Poland, meanwhile, Russian forces were said to be putting up a terrific battle against Nazi columns attempting to gain a stranglehold on the rich Ukraine. The communique indicated the Nazi advance had been halted, at least temporarily in that area.

The Russians declared their air force had been unusually active yesterday, striking heavy blows at German-motorized forces and losing only one plane in these operations. At least 24 Nazi planes were downed during the day, the communique declared.

WHERE BATTLES RAGE—The principal fighting fronts in eastern Europe are shown on this map. Today's communiques tell of fierce fighting in three main sectors. In the north the Russians admit the Nazis have crossed the Dvina River at two points, but claim a success over advanced German units. In the centre the chief points of battle are Borisov and Bobruisk on the Berezina River, where the Russians report they have slaughtered Nazis in thousands. A terrific fight is raging in the south, where Nazi columns are pointed at the Ukraine with Tarnopol the centre of activity.

RUSSIAN RUTS SLOW DOWN THE LIGHTNING—Invading Germans find Russian roads aren't like military autobahnen back home as this motorized column is slowed by deeply-rutted sand road. (Radiophoto).

Beside the hard fighting in the Dvinsk and Minsk regions, the Russians said, battles also were going on in the Tarnopol sector east of Lwow, in south-eastern Poland.

Russians Fight Stubbornly Everywhere

"The enemy is everywhere meeting with stubborn resistance from our troops, devastating artillery fire and crushing blows by the Soviet air force," the communique said.

Around Minsk, the Russians continued, considerable losses also were inflicted on the invaders.

First reports of guerrilla activity since Stalin yesterday called for nation-wide warfare of this type together with a "scorched earth" policy of frustrating the Nazis said that in one Nazi-occupied section of the Soviet a guerrilla party had blown up a train loaded with munitions for German artillery as it moved toward the front.

DNB, German news and propaganda agency, pictured "hundreds of thousands of Russian corpses" strewn over the battlefield. The agency claimed the slaughter was due to massed infantry and tank attacks against German tanks, artillery and machine guns. No mention was made of German losses.

The daily communique claimed the Red army is in retreat on the whole eastern front despite difficult road conditions.

North of the Berezina River front, the high command claimed German forces had reached the border between Latvia and Russia.

The high command's mention of bad roads marked the second time in two days the Germans have cited obstacles to their progress, besides the admitted "obstinate resistance" offered by the Russians. DNB yesterday reported bad weather and even snow in the Lwow area.

Familiar Claim About Maps, Papers

The communique raised again the German contention that the Nazi blow against Russia was "struck just as the Red army was poised for an assault into central Europe."

"Among booty scrutinized yesterday, it asserted, 'general staff maps were found which served as a last clue of the aggressive intentions of the Soviet Russian armed forces.'"

"While before the occupation by Soviet Russian armed forces there were only a total of 90 airfields in Bessarabia, Poland, Lithuania and Latvia, this number within a short period was increased to 1,814 partly permanent air bases.

Nazi spokesmen, in discussing the booty claimed by their high command, said they thought Russian industry would be unable to replace the losses in equipment allegedly suffered by the Soviet forces.

The controlled commentary Dienst Aus Deutschland claimed much of the Russians' best equipment was destroyed in an attempt to hold the Germans at the border, and that armored columns plunging deeper into the Soviet are adding daily to the toll. Dienst claimed progress was being made on the Finnish front, where German and Finnish troops have been reported rushing toward the Arctic Russian port of Murmansk.

On the southern end of the battlefield, German and Rumanian troops were claimed to be advancing after crossing the Prut River into Bessarabia. Later dispatches failed to indicate depth of this penetration.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Some of the Canadian Clubs in British Columbia seemed to have lost the interest and activity necessary for a really live organization. Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, Victoria, chairman, said in her report at the annual meeting of the Regional Council here today. It was discouraging, she said, for any speaker to tour the clubs and be greeted by small audiences.

H. S. Pringle, Victoria, honorary secretary-treasurer, stressed the importance of attracting more members into Canadian Clubs.

Nazi Menace Coming Closer

EDMONTON (CP)—The Nazi menace is "drawing ever closer to this hemisphere," Prime Minister Mackenzie King warned in a luncheon address here today.

"That is a truth I would like to bring home to all today," said Mr. King to a great audience of Edmonton service club and Board of Trade members.

"More than ever do I feel that it is for each one of us, and more particularly for those who are the natural leaders in their communities, to see that the magnitude of the present conflict and the service it demands of every citizen is placed in its true light at this time," he said.

"Especially is it imperative that our young men should see that it is their freedom, their future, and their country's future that is in peril, today."

"It is hard to believe that any thoughtful man can longer doubt the world-encircling scope of Hitler's ambition and the appalling reality of the Nazi menace."

TWO BRIDGES

There were two "bridges" by which Hitler would seek to extend his domination to the western hemisphere, Mr. King said.

The southern bridge was by way of Dakar, the Azores and Cape Verde Islands across the Atlantic to Brazil. The northern bridge extended by way of Norway, the Faroe Islands, Iceland, Greenland and Newfoundland to the Canadian Atlantic coast.

"It was the possession of that (northern) bridge Germany was seeking to obtain when the Bismarck sunk the Hood off the coast of Greenland," he declared.

"Month by month the world-encircling danger is closing in upon this continent."

"That circle must be broken; that menace must be destroyed, or the whole western hemisphere will inevitably be drawn to the extent of its entire resources into the world conflict."

"No one today can escape the choice between freedom and slavery. If he fails to choose freedom that means he has already chosen slavery."

"For the second time in a generation Canada is in the vanguard of the struggle for freedom."

"The strength of all three branches of the armed forces is being recruited steadily," Mr. King said. "We are taking men into the navy as fast as we can get them ships to man."

OBJECTIVE NEAR

"We are now in the midst of a recruiting campaign for the active army. I am pleased to be able to tell you that already over two-thirds of the objective set for the campaign has been reached and that some of the districts have gone over the 100 per cent of their allotted quota."

Mr. King said mobilization of human and material resources for the promotion of human betterment could not be left until the struggle for freedom had ended, but preparations had already begun.

Preparations for a new social order could not wait until the end of war. The state was planning to organize and secure a greater measure of social justice.

"Unless the new world is already on its way before the war is over we may look for it in vain."

Torpedoed Crew Safe

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (CP)—Seventeen survivors of a British merchantman sunk by a Nazi sea raider in the middle of the south Atlantic, have arrived here aboard a British ship which picked them up after they had drifted seven days in an open boat.

They reported 29 shipmates missing, but said they believed they were rescued by other ships. One of the survivors said the raider shelled their craft until it sank.

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP)—The army high command said today it had nipped a subversive plot among officers of a marine regiment at the Paraguay River port of Pilar, 112 miles southwest of here.

SPY TRIAL—Crowded scene in a Brooklyn court as men and women seized by the FBI in a huge spy-ring round-up are arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Martin C. Epstein. Seven of the 29 defendants plead guilty to espionage charges and are held in $25,000 bail each for the Grand Jury.

16 Nazis Bagged Over France

Raiders Blast Bremen Factory

LONDON (CP)—Sixteen German fighting planes were shot down in today's offensive sweep by the Royal Air Force over northern France, the Air Ministry announced tonight.

Direct hits were scored in a daring daylight attack on Bremen. The big British bombers, diving 50 feet over the rooftops, concentrated on a large factory in the waterfront area of the German port and shipbuilding city.

The fliers gave Bremen only a short breathing spell after the night shift of British raiders had left it. The morning attack there preceded a sweep across the Channel this afternoon in a new offensive against Nazi-occupied France as the R.A.F. kept intact its string of day and night air blows.

Railway Yard Heavily Bombed

Besides unloading their explosives from a low level on the factory, heavy Blenheim bombers attacked a freight yard and railroad junction northwest of Bremen and machine-gunned planes on an airfield.

Five bombers and four fighters were missing from the foray over France.

Roosevelt Speaks

'Cannot Save Freedom By Flag-waving Alone'

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP)—President Roosevelt warned the people of the United States today they must be willing once more to pledge their lives, "if it is necessary," for the preservation of their cherished liberty.

Americans everywhere, from President to humblest citizen, joined a moment later in an independence Day pledge of allegiance to flag and country.

Speaking by radio from the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library in a nation-wide celebration of the Fourth of July, the Chief Executive said the fundamental principles for which Americans fought in 1776 were being struck down by tyranny abroad and threatened on this side of the Atlantic.

"I tell the American people solemnly," the President declared, "that the United States will never survive as a happy and prosperous oasis of liberty in the midst of a desert of dictatorships."

OUR WORK, OUR WILL

"And so it is that when we repeat the great pledge to our country and to our flag, it must be our deep conviction that we pledge as well our work, our will and, if it be necessary, our lives."

Mr. Roosevelt said it was simple—almost simple-minded—for people to let their patriotism stop with flag-waving and a reaffirmation of a belief in the cause of freedom.

"Yet, all of us who lie awake at night—all of us who study and study again," he said, "know full well that in these days we cannot save freedom with pitchforks and muskets."

Nor can freedom be saved in our land, he asserted, if neighbor nations have lost theirs.

"That is why," the President explained, "we are engaged in a serious, in a mighty, in a unified action in the cause of the defence of the hemisphere and the freedom of the seas. We need speed and efficiency and toil—and an end to back-biting and to sabotage which runs far deeper than Five other British bombers also were missing from the assault on Bremen in which a bombardment and machine-gun attack also was made on barracks and gun positions on the island of Norderney off the German coast.

The daylight assault followed a raid last night, in which the Air Ministry said Essen, site of the Krupp works, was a main target and fires were started there and elsewhere in the Ruhr Valley.

With visibility better than in recent days, the day raiders flew high, apparently headed for the invasion coast area between Boulogne and Dieppe.

Bremerhaven Heavily Hit

Also feeling the impact of British bombers last night were the port of Bremen and industrial quarters at Bremerhaven in the 23rd smash at German targets in the last 25 nights. Seven British planes were lost in the overnight offensive.

(Nazi sources in Berlin admitted the assault had damaged the port of Bremen.)

Over the British Isles, for the second straight night there were the blowing up of munitions plants."

Exactly what he meant—strikes, propaganda or something else—Mr. Roosevelt did not say.

It was a brief speech and a gravely-worded one, and it emphasized by repetition what the President had said many times—that freedom cannot live in this country if it has been wiped out in all others.

GREAT PRINCIPLE

In 1776, the President said, Americans fought for a great principle that "government should derive its just powers from the consent of the governed," and for a century and a half this "cause of human freedom" swept through the world.

"But now, in our generation—in the last few years," Mr. Roosevelt declared, "a new resistance, in the form of several new practices of tyranny has been making such headway that the fundamentals of 1776 are being struck down abroad and threatened here."

"It is, indeed, a fallacy, based on no logic, for any Americans to suggest that the rule of force can defeat human freedom in all the other parts of the world and allow it to survive in the United States alone."

A childlike fantasy, a misdirected faith, he said, has led one nation after another to pursue peaceful tasks and rely on the thought, and even the promise, that they, their lives and their government "would be allowed to live when the juggernaut of force came that way."

UNPRECEDENTED SCENES

The President's address was followed by an event unique in U.S. history. The pledge to country and flag was read by the new Chief Justice, Harlan Stone, who was at his country home in Colorado. Then uncensored millions throughout the republic, led by a radio soloist, joined in singing the national anthem. All ball games and other sports were stopped and traffic in cities and towns paused for a brief time, car drivers uniting with throngs singing in the streets and in homes.

Man, Now Woman, Married Months

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Edward P. Richards, 29, who asks legal permission to change his name to Barbara Ann because of a pronounced sex change, has disclosed he and Miss Lorraine Wilcox, 32, were married last November.

Dressed in contrasting frocks, the two received newspaper reporters in their modest apartment.

There they told how they had fallen in love at first sight while guests at the home of a mutual friend, of their elopement to Yuma, Ariz., where they were married November 18, and of their decision to remain living together after Richards' changing physical characteristics had become known to his bride.

"We were married at a church ceremony," said dark-haired Miss Wilcox as Richards, his blond hair curled in feminine coiffure and his fingernails tinted, gazed demurely at the floor.

"I realized that it was not possible for her to be my 'husband' or to go on living as a man, especially since the sex changes became more pronounced."

"We talked things over. Edward became Barbara. And she—I never again could think of her as 'him'—began to wear women's clothing, very becomingly, too, and to live, think, act like a woman."

NO FURTHER CHANGE

Richards, whose case is being studied by the American Medical Association, was asked by a reporter whether, if it were found possible for him to be restored to masculinity, he would wish to have such a change brought about.

"No," he said emphatically. "I like being a woman. I've been told that there is no possibility of me becoming a man again, but even if there were, I wouldn't wish it. Femininity seems to have been my destiny."

He said he had noticed the start of the sex change a couple of years ago.

Richards had said earlier this week that he had registered for the last census as a woman but as a male for selective service, being placed in class 4-F.

Miss Wilcox said she hopes the court proceedings Richards has instituted will pave the way for an annulment.

"We will go on living together, at least for the time being," she said. "Why not? We are perfect friends, have identical tastes and find joy in each other's company."

TRACED TO ILLNESS

Dr. Marcus Graham, outstanding endocrinologist, said Richards' sex change probably was traceable to a severe illness in infancy.

"Such diseases as mumps," he said, "have been known to cause destruction of important male characteristics. All human beings have both male and female hormones, and whichever predominate determine the characteristics of the individual."

"It is possible through an illness to lose the predominating male characteristics."

Lady Diana Fined

LADY DIANA DUFF COOPER, wife of Alfred Duff Cooper, British Minister of Information, was fined 25s (about $5) at Bognor Regis, Sussex, England, for parking her car on the wrong side of the road and driving without a license.

She explained she was unable to park properly because she couldn't back up with the trailer in which she was "collecting swill for pigs."

She is the former actress, Lady Diana Manners, daughter of the Duke of Rutland.

Cut Down on Yachts

ROBERT E. MCCONNELL, chief of the conservation section of the office of production management, warned Americans must resign themselves to many "ersatz" products and a sharp decrease in luxuries.

"We can have the necessities of life and all-out defence too," he told reporters, "but we cannot have the luxuries of life and all-out defence too."

"It won't be patriotic for anyone to buy a yacht, and it won't be patriotic for anyone to own two cars if one will do," he said. "It took Hitler seven years to get ready for his show. We are going to be ready in two years—and I think England is going to give us those two years of borrowed time."

'Our Last Man' Will Go

ALEX WALKER, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, said in San Jose, Canada was "ready to send our last man and our last dollar across the Atlantic" to help Britain.

Mr. Walker addressed the opening meeting of the 11th annual convention of the California Branch of the Canadian Legion.

"Canada is 100 per cent behind the British Empire in its present struggle," he said, and predicted Britain would win the war with proper assistance and equipment from the United States.

"Our result of the war to date has been to create a better understanding between Canada and the United States," he told the delegates.

He disclosed plans to present to President Roosevelt a life membership in the Canadian Legion.

'Too Hot for Nazis'

Things are getting "too hot for the Nazis at the other end of our present convoy bridge to Britain," Engineer Vice-Admiral H. A. SHERIDAN, vice-chairman of a British Admiralty mission in Ottawa, said in Montreal.

Admiral Sheridan, who did not elaborate on his reference to a "convoy bridge," added "the fact the Bismarck was so far west in the Atlantic proves we've got to extend the bridge."

Admiral Sheridan arrived in Canada recently from the United Kingdom.

'Time Is Short'

LORD BEAVERBROOK, British Minister of Supply, has expressed his "deep admiration" to Garfield Weston, Toronto-born member of the British House of Commons, who has inaugurated a tank fund by presenting Lord Beaverbrook with a cheque for £10,000 ($44,500).

In a letter Lord Beaverbrook said: "It reaches us in an hour of crisis when the need is great, time is short and urgency must be the watchword in all we do."

Willkie Sure U.S. Soon to Use Navy

WENDELL L. WILLKIE, in New York: "I am quite sure that before long now the great force of the American navy will be brought into play to insure the delivery of supplies to Great Britain."

"We understand that if we permit the last stronghold of liberty in Europe to fall before the onslaught of totalitarianism that the opportunity to save liberty in America will be lessened and, therefore, the overwhelming percentage of the American people are resolved that at whatever hazard or cost, we will sustain the fighting men of Britain."

He asserted unless the United States used her navy immediately "to insure England received the products of our toil and sweat, England will not and cannot survive. England's survival is indispensable to the preservation of our own liberty. There is no time to waste. The menace is upon us. The day of wishful thinking is past. The moment of decision is at hand. We have it in our hands to say whether slavery or freedom shall be the common lot of mankind. I know the Americans of 1941 will not deny the precious heritage of Americans of 1776 and of 1863—and of 1917 to 1919. Americans—I call you to action."

U.S. FLAGS FLY IN AUSTRALIA

CANBERRA (AP)—The Australian government recognized American Independence Day today with the American flag flying beside the Australian flag on government buildings.

The acting American Minister, John R. Minter, and Mrs. Minter held a reception for 400 diplomatic and official guests at the legation. It was the first such function held in Australia.

In a broadcast to the United States Prime Minister Menzies said "upon Independence Day the minds of English-speaking people all over the world are turned to the United States." He said that during a recent visit to the United States he felt perfectly at home, a feeling enjoyed by every Australian visiting the United States.

"We spoke the same language, had the same thoughts and acted the same way. We are both equally devoted to the rights of man and are both unhesitatingly and resolutely opposed to the overthrowing of those rights by any tyrant. We live in vast countries, which thousands of miles separate, but upon matters which count we stand on common ground."

Oppose U.S. in War

NEW YORK (AP)—The Daily News said its poll of New York State showed 5,704 persons oppose United States entrance into the war to aid Great Britain defeat Hitler while 2,716 favor it. The tabulation now is in its third day.

Meat Packers Indicted

CHICAGO (AP)—A federal grand jury investigating alleged violations of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act in the United States food industry has returned indictments charging three Chicago meat packing firms, two trade associations and seven individuals with conspiracy to fix certain hog prices.

2 V.C.'s GIVEN POSTHUMOUSLY

CANBERRA (CP-Reuters)—Corporal J. H. Edmondson of Liverpool, New South Wales, has been posthumously awarded the Victoria Cross, it was announced today.

Edmondson, who died of wounds, rescued his commanding officer during a sortie at Tobruk, Libya, April 13.

Although wounded, he continued the advance under heavy fire and killed one of the enemy. Afterwards he went to the assistance of the officer and killed two of the enemy attacking him.

In Simla, India, last night it was announced the V.C. had been awarded posthumously to Subadar Rihpal Ram of the 6th Rajputana Rifles. Ram led a company attacking an objective before Cheren, Eritrea, Italian East Africa, on February 7.

With 30 men he rushed his objective with bayonet fixed and captured it, beating off six counter-attacks. The force became isolated and its ammunition exhausted, but Ram and a handful of survivors fought their way back to their own battalion.

Five days later Ram led an assault on the same position, pressing on fearlessly and determinedly in the face of heavy and accurate fire until his right foot was blown off. He died some time later.

Helium gas first was observed on the sun.

Seek to Double U.S. Army

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans for substantial increase in the size of the United States army—perhaps to double its present strength—were believed indicated today by the general staff's request for power to hold national guardsmen and selective service recruits in service, and to use them beyond the confines of the western hemisphere if necessary.

The question of the army's future size was momentarily obscured by the rush of critical congressional reaction to the '41 command's request. Well-informed officials said the two subjects are linked closely.

The army's present strength, they noted, was approximately 1,400,000 men. If the bulk are to be kept on duty, new regulars recruited and the scheduled number of trainees inducted in the next year, they said, the land forces would be close to 2,800,000—the goal the high command has in mind for the first expansion, if one is deemed necessary because of world conditions.

Regardless of its ultimate objectives, yesterday's request touched off debate on Capitol Hill, where most Congress members volunteering comments were hostile to granting the power asked.

Generally, Congressional reaction followed two lines. Some rejected the idea of extending the term of guardsmen or trainees who had been mobilized or inducted with the understanding they would be released after one year of service.

The other attack centred on the request for permission to use guardsmen or trainees outside of the hemisphere. Critics of the administration's foreign policy viewed it as another step toward eventual participation in the war.

London Observes Independence Day

LONDON (CP)—The stars and stripes fluttered widely over the United Kingdom today as Britons honored the United States on Independence Day.

American flags flew from principal railway terminals, hotels and other buildings, and American patriotic music was played through loudspeakers at this city's Waterloo and Victoria stations.

Members of the American Society gathered at a hotel and heard Ambassador John G. Winant speak.

First among the day's events for the ambassador, however, was a visit to bomb-battered St. Paul's Cathedral for the unveiling of a tablet honoring Flt.-Lt. William Fiske, first American flier to die in service with the Royal Air Force.

One hotel advertised: "Philadelphia peppercorn, chicken gumbo, corned beef hash, corn on the cob and Boston beans."

Letters to the EditorWANTON DESTRUCTION

One of the greatest contributors to the floral beauty of Victoria has been, and is, Lady Barnard. Her gardens, have long brought happiness to and many compliments from local flower lovers.

It was, therefore, with great regret that I read, through the columns of your paper, of the destruction of her prize rhododendrons. Surely, I thought, no person could knowingly cut down these beautiful blooms, and undo all the tremendous effort required to produce them.

Naturally they cannot be replaced. But it is the opinion of the writer that the authorities should get hot on the trail of the guilty ones and catch them before there are no rhododendrons left in Victoria.

RUSSIA

Dismay has been expressed by many people at the welcome given by our leaders to Russia as our most recent "ally." The Gulf that separates is not merely one of political creeds. It is infinitely more serious. The Soviet state is avowedly atheistic and anti-God. We English-speaking peoples with our great heritage of faith believe in God's help. Our leaders have repeatedly said so. On what grounds then can we now count upon God while allying ourselves with His open enemy?

Our present course abounds with dangers. We have again given the inside track to the cunning Nazi propaganda which is now proclaiming a holy war. We who are fighting for the freedoms of our Christian heritage have been manoeuvred into taking the side of the infidel. Could any situation be more farcically tragic? Then what of the aid sent to Russia? If Hitler wins it will swell his resources. If Stalin wins can we trust a man who has seized every chance to pillage his helpless neighbors? Are we like a strong swimmer confident of safety even in heavy seas, as a sinking man snatching at any straw?

DARWIN

As a visitor to your city I was rather diffident about any criticism of items in your excellent paper, but the chatter of Bruce Hutchison respecting Darwin being mistaken about evolution called for some comment. Happily, an abler pen than mine has taken the matter in hand, and I wish to thank you for publishing the reply of A. B. Sanders.

On the same page Bruce Hutchison has another article which may, perhaps, explain things somewhat. He says "Everything to know, and we know nothing." He concludes, "We must be satisfied . . . with the windy solemnities of men who, like me (in a very humble capacity) make their living by the discussion of things they do not understand."

CONSCRIPTION NOW

It is obvious to the meaneast intelligence that the voluntary recruiting method is not supplying the necessary men for the war services. It is doubtful even if the present system is furnishing sufficient recruits to repair the wastage.

Mr. Mackenzie King is evidently trying to stick to his pledge of no conscription, but, with the entirely altered situation and the desperate need, few people would blame him if he should break that pledge. On the contrary, he would gain respect and admiration.

It has been said of Mr. Mackenzie King that the secret of his long life as leader is that he has the gift of ascertaining what the people want him to do, and of doing it. If this be true, Mr. Mackenzie King will immediately break his pledge of no conscription, and bring in conscription. This is what the people want, including the young men most concerned, the men who will be conscripted, and also including the vast majority of French-Canadians, who are as well aware of the urgent necessity as the rest of Canadians, and who are just as willing to do their part to defend the country that they love so well.

More Deductions

FIRST PAY-DAY IN JULY, WHICH FOR many will be this week-end, will see more deductions from pay envelopes. First, there are the new rates of national defence tax. They mean that single persons receiving more than $1,200 a year will pay 7 instead of 3 per cent, while other single persons receiving from $600 to $1,200, and married persons receiving more than $1,200 will be taxed 5 instead of 2 per cent. The allowance for each dependent child is now 38 cents a week, but full deductions will be made as from July 1 with opportunity for adjustments later.

Second will be the deduction for unemployment insurance. The deductions vary with the pay. An employee earning $5.40 to $7.49 a week will contribute 12 cents and the employer 21 cents. The employer's contribution is larger than the employee's up to the point where the worker gets $20 to $25.99 a week, when the employer will provide only 27 cents to the employee's 30 cents. From $26 up, the employee pays 36 cents, while the employer's contribution remains at 27 cents. These examples give an idea of the trend. As no benefits are payable to workers earning less than 90 cents a day, or while under 16 years, they do not contribute to the insurance fund, but the employer must pay 27 cents a week for each of them to make them eligible for benefits later. Exempted are employees receiving more than $2,000 a year and persons engaged in agriculture, fishing, lumbering, hunting, transportation, domestic service, hospital, or charitable work, teaching, soldiering, policing. Federal and provincial civil servants are exempt under special rulings, and municipal employees if their employment is certified as permanent.

Compensating only partially for these new pay cheque levies is the elimination as from July 1 of the British Columbia 1 per cent wage tax. Even with this off, many employers now have to make as many as seven deductions from their employees' cheques, what with medical aid, hospital, group life and sick insurance, war savings. The bookkeeping involved is a factor of consequence to employers, as the total of deductions is to the employee.

Eagle Fledglings

TO ADD TO THE GROWING OUTPUT of pilots for the Royal Canadian Air Force from Canada, the United States has arranged to take part in the training of youths from Britain, so that as the planes are ready for use there shall be no scarcity of men to fly them—a plan, incidentally, which can be quickly expanded in airways not subject to enemy attack. And in this connection an aviation expert has this to say in a general way of our neighbor's progress in the war aviation field:

"The American Eagle is hatching warriors of the air at a rapid rate these days. The other day at Maxwell Field, Alabama, 147 bronzed flying cadets from 31 states pinned on their wings, making 534 pilots turned out at that centre since February 7. Thirty weeks ago, these 147 young men wouldn't have known how to crawl into a cockpit. When those wings were pinned on, each of them had flown more than 26,300 miles, or 1,300 miles more than the distance around the world at the equator. Together, they had flown 3,866,100 miles without a fatality. More than 1,800 young men are now in that process of highly practical training. The nest of the eagle is full of fledglings. It is rapidly hatching a mighty brood."

Far away ahead of plans laid down for the Empire Air Training Scheme in 1939, Canada is doing a work that will insure Britain's supremacy in the skies before many more months have passed, a development which even Hitler and Goering may well be pondering. For unless Germany can win the Battle of Britain and the Battle of the Atlantic in the next month or so, as well as the new war with Russia, all the Nazi chief's plans for his "New World Order" will be frustrated.

Crime—Wholesale and Retail

EXCHANGE OF PLEASANTRIES HAS been going on between the Atlantian, the magazine published by the inmates of Atlanta Penitentiary, and Hitler's Voelkische Beobachter.

The Atlanta prisoners make certain articles for national defence. They posted an uncomplimentary cartoon of Hitler in their shops. Production jumped more than 25 per cent. News of this went to Germany, whose Voelkische Beobachter railed at the Atlantians, saying, "In the name of culture and civilization, Negroes and immigrants, deserters and Palestine Jews have been called in against us. But the mobilization of penitentiary inmates against Hitler remained for the American President to discover."

The Atlantian replies in its current issue: "Imagine them calling us thieves and murderers! . . . No wonder they look upon us through the slightly biased squint with the big-timer naturally views the small-timer. . . . For once we're on the right side of the fence, even if it does enclose us."

For our money, the Atlanta prisoners win that round.

Same Technique

THE STORY OF HOW THE GERMANS lulled the Russians into believing they were safe and how London warned Moscow of what was to come is gradually leaking out. William H. Stoneman, cabling from London to the Chicago Daily News, says that the British had what they regarded as 100 per cent evidence of an impending German attack on the Soviet Union as early as mid-April. With more promptitude than they have shown on many other occasions, they attempted to deliver their evidence to responsible Soviet officials and particularly to Foreign Minister Molotov. If they failed to get the message to that gentleman and his superior, Dictator Stalin, it was purely and simply because Molotov refused to receive British Ambassador Sir Stafford Cripps in Moscow "for political reasons."

In April the British government sent to Cripps in Moscow a mass of concrete, detailed evidence regarding German troop concentrations on the Soviet frontiers. Sir Stafford was told to take the material to Molotov and to explain that, in the view of the British government, this pointed either at invasion of the Soviet Union or a demand for such tremendous concessions that the Soviet would virtually have to become a member of the Axis. The idea was that if the Soviet decided to fight it could depend for assistance upon Britain and the Allies. If, on the other hand, the Soviet made concessions such as it was anticipated Germany would demand, then Britain would be forced to consider it an unfriendly act.

Sir Stafford forthwith asked for an interview with Molotov and after waiting was granted an appointment. When he arrived, however, he was received by Vice-Commissioner for Foreign Affairs Vishinsky, who explained that Molotov was busy, and when pressed said that Molotov was unable to receive him for "reasons de politique." Sir Stafford thereupon wrote a note to Molotov and a few days later flew to London.

The Germans, following the technique used elsewhere, had mesmerized Moscow diplomatically while they prepared for the attack. The whole half-tragic, half-comic story, if it proves anything, proves that such small peoples as the Belgians, Dutch and Norwegians had nothing on the bright minds in the Kremlin when it came to gullibility.

The woman pays and all that. But she never has to break in a Father's Day pipe.

As a sleep-inducer, the daily threat from the Duce may gradually supersede old-fashioned phenobarbital.

So numerous are government employees in Ottawa their pay days have to be staggered. As for the little man who pays for all this, he, too, is reeling.

Saanich is installing modern fluorescent lighting in the Tillamook School. Lighting should be modernized in all Victoria schools. The old lights which throw a glare into the eyes of young pupils have been the cause of permanently damaged eyesight as well as unnecessary discomfort.

The comrades who take their orders from Moscow have had to reverse themselves several times in the last two years. Their chief organ on this continent, the Daily Worker of New York, began calling for war on the part of the United States the moment it found the party line had been switched. It now demands full American aid to Russia.

For men who try to enlist and are turned down by a medical board, the Ottawa Journal suggests a small button for their coat lapels or a metal badge to be carried in a pocket. Men classified E category and rejected are given a "blue slip" to prove they tried to enlist and it is only recently that they have been given even this much. In any event, a fragile and perishable slip of paper does not serve the purpose. It is unfair to men who have been rejected that they should not have something to show that they have voluntarily come forward and offered to serve their country.

DANGEROUS TENDENCY

From Toronto Globe and Mail

Mr. Lester B. Pearson, whose valuable work in London since the war began has earned him promotion to the rank of Deputy Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs, performed a parallel service at Ottawa when, in a speech delivered to the Canadian Club, he deprecated the prevalence of an unjustified complacency about the outcome of the war.

We agree with his statement that there has been "too much parrotting" both in London and Ottawa about the impossibility of our losing the war. This parrotting, moreover, has increased rather than diminished since Russia ranged herself against the Axis Powers, and Mr. Pearson's protest should be a useful antidote to this dangerous tendency.

Since the spring of 1940 we have seen a string of countries from France downward falsify our fond hopes that they would put up an effective resistance to Hitler's blitzkrieg, and we have no assurance that Russia will be able to cope with it.

We can welcome whatever help Russia can give in saving civilization, but we would be unwise to place too much reliance upon it.

Canada and the British Commonwealth will be saved by their own exertions and the aid of the United States, and if Mr. Pearson can inculcate this idea firmly into the minds of his political chiefs at Ottawa he will deserve further promotion.

IMPORTANT QUESTION

ANOTHER enraptured Tory has written to the New York Times to protest that women should stop using lipstick. It is obviously a subject which needs careful consideration at a time like this. Indeed, when our grandsons read the press of our time, the magazines and reviews and see the movies, they will wonder whether we really were at war or whether we were conducting some kind of gigantic guessing game. Never mind that now; the question is lipstick.

It is not a subject about which I claim to know much. It really came after my time, if you know what I mean. Girls in those days didn't wear it. Yet it seems to me that the whole female sex is in need of a champion these days against a whole series of monstrous allegations, and let it never be said that this department was closed to them. White bears, lighthouses and ill-treated females will ever be welcome here.

The facts about lipstick are not as simple as you might suppose at a first glance. A deep historic process is under way here. We have grown so used to lipstick that if it were removed it would be as if the town were suddenly blacked out; as if all the Neon signs were to disappear and we went back to gas lights. That would be the effect of unpainted faces on our streets.

We can protest all we like. The New York Times can write learned articles, but the plain fact is that we have come to depend on the thing. It has become part of the scenery. A city without paint would be like Pandora Avenue without you-know-what. It may be ugly, unnatural, and sinful, but we are conditioned to it now and must bear with it to the end.

These 'Imaginary' Parties

BRAND NEW in social affairs in Victoria comes a wartime idea which must be accepted with reservations until long and serious consideration is given as to the dangers it may lead us into. It is the imaginary party. The idea is startling in its simplicity but threatening in its possibilities.

First one held was a rummage sale—an imaginary rummage sale. It appears you organize a rummage sale with all the advance build-up. Then you don't hold it. Then the rummage sale which you don't hold raises a hundred dollars or so, real dollars, not imaginary, for the Red Cross or some other good objective.

Success of the imaginary rummage sale and the real dollars it produced inspired other public spirited women.

An imaginary garden party was held next.

It was hailed as a fine idea. Organizers go ahead with all the details, they spend weeks making plans and then when the great day of the garden party arrives they have no fears.

They need not scan the horizon for threatening clouds.

Hail, rain or shine, the imaginary garden party can be held with an imaginary sun shining imaginary rays to bless the imaginary event and the organizers can proceed with their normal social events without any interference, or headaches and fatigue from over-exertion and excitement at the close of the day.

But in the success of these imaginary events lurks a real menace.

They may prove an inspiration to the women to carry the imaginary theme farther, even into domestic life.

If it saves hours of social work, they may argue why not extend it to the household. That seems good logic—good women's logic. It is a possibility that men may view with alarm.

INTO THE HOME

The sad day may arrive when a man will return home satisfied with a good day's work well done, looking forward with contentment to a well cooked dinner and an evening by the fireside.

In this happy frame of mind he may greet his wife.

"Well, dear, how are you? What's for supper tonight?"

The wife may look thoughtful. "Let me see. There is roast lamb, green peas, mint sauce, new potatoes, asparagus, a lovely salad, raspberries out of our own garden and the richest thick cream from contented cows, lemon pie and coffee, both better than your mother could even begin to make."

In half an hour or so the husband will sit down to the dinner table. Before him he will see water, bread, butter and cheese.

"What's this," he will demand to know. "Where's the roast lamb? Where's the mint sauce? Where's the asparagus?"

"Oh, haven't you heard, dear. It's the very latest idea," the wife will reply. "It's the new imaginary idea. Very latest thing you know and saves an awful lot of bother. We do it with garden parties and rummage sales. You just say it is something and then imagine it."

TOO FAR

If the husband is a patient soul he may enter into the spirit of the thing.

But probably before bedtime he will become irritable. Hunger by that time may make him become a little fed up with this imaginary theme. There is such a thing as carrying something too far.

A man may skip supper reluctantly but in the long hours of the night as his hunger is accentuated he may make a vow.

"I'll stand for imaginary suppers if it is the latest idea, but one thing I won't stand for. There will be no imaginary breakfasts. That's carrying the idea too far."

OUR PERIL REAL

IN THE LAST few weeks I have attended two gatherings at which were people from all parts of the United States. I came away from both more than ever convinced that we in Canada can make no greater mistake than to assume that the United States will ever enter this war as a result of facing facts as they are now. If they do enter the war it will be because the provocation to do so is aggravated by Hitler, or Japan—or because they visualize the possibility of German world conquest far more clearly than they now do.

The plain truth is that the vast majority of the people of North America, in Canada as elsewhere, do not really believe that the Nazis could conquer the world. They have been conditioned since earliest childhood to believe in a basic set of facts about the world in which they live. Those facts are being trampled beyond hope of reconstruction month by month, week by week, day by day. Before next winter comes North America may be left as the last survivor of freedom. But, in our heart of hearts, we in North America do not believe that. So we proceed as if this war was just about the same as any other war that ever went before.

That assumption is utterly untrue. It is so utterly untrue that it constitutes for us our deadliest danger. It keeps one country after another in a state of what might be called chronic sleep-walking. Then, when it is too late to amass the mechanical means to stop it, the lightning terror strikes. The Nazi legions march into yet another country. The storm troopers come along behind to whip the civilian population into line by scientifically prepared and diabolically clever plans of coercion. They are singing the same Horst Wessell song that they sang below Mr. Chamberlain's balcony at Munich—"Today we own Germany, tomorrow we own the earth."

NOTHING LIKE IT

People have been trying to conquer the world ever since the days of Alexander, and before. Several would-be conquerors have actually overrun everything that they thought worth taking. Even if Hitler gets to Moscow, like Napoleon, he will only then control square mileage about equal to that of his predecessor. But here is the real difference:

For the first time in all the history of man a gang of would-be rulers has at its disposal the mechanical means to conquer the whole world not over a period of generations, or decades, but over a period of months. Moreover, the same gang has a carefully prepared political program whereby to run the world when the armed forces of conquest have done their work. And, as we see to our chagrin, in France, for instance, the technique works at least for the time being.

As I write these lines the gravity of the Nazi threat to Russia is not even debatable. If the Red armies go down to final defeat the reverberations of that downfall will be felt in every nook and corner of the world, and not just as a newspaper sensation.

Home Economists Seek Legislation On Foodstuffs

Protection of the consumer in the matter of standards and prices of foodstuffs is aimed at in a series of resolutions passed by the Canadian Home Economics Association at its home-makers session yesterday afternoon at the Empress Hotel, Mrs. T. L. Guild, B.Sc., presided.

The Department of Agriculture will be asked to legislate for the removal of covered netting over fruit baskets, on the ground that this disguise prevents the consumer from judging its quality; to bring in legislation for the re-grading of certain fresh fruits held in cold storage over a period, and to extend grading to include all fresh meats, also to extend the protection offered by graded foods by legislating that advertising of such products carry grade designation.

Other resolutions urged the association members to support the efforts of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board in preventing an undue rise in price in essential commodities by reporting same to the board and encouraging housewives in their communities to do the same; to extend their interest in the Youth training programs, and to further their interest in ensuring a safe milk supply in their communities.

The relation of the professionally-trained homemaker to all phases of community life was touched upon by speakers at the meeting.

Bringing a report of the American Homemakers' Association convention which she had attended, Miss Jessie Brodie, Ph.D., director of household economics at the University of Toronto, recommended the establishment of a Bureau of Home Economics in Ottawa, patterned on that at Washington. Such a bureau makes nutrition surveys of the whole country and is used by all social welfare groups, she said. She also told of how home economists are employed in farm security administration and farm credit associations in the United States, teaching the farmer's wife to budget and organize to the end that at least 75 per cent of what the farmer's family consumes be produced at home.

Mrs. H. McGregor, of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, also spoke along the lines of what the professionally-trained homemaker can contribute to community welfare. She declared that the Women's Institutes wanted direction from home economists and expressed the belief that the trained homemaker could help materially towards the success of many wartime marriages by teaching the "teen-age bride the cardinal principles of home-making."

The speaker told of steps taken by the institutes to handle their war work, by setting up committees on citizenship, home economics, the correlation of agriculture and Canadian industries, social welfare, also a special committee on war services.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bailey Price of Vancouver also outlined the methods taken to correlate the work of the Red Cross, Women's Institutes, home economists and similar groups in the production of food for Britain. She also suggested that the home economists might take a lead in organizing the making of jam, conserving fruit, for shipment to Britain.

Miss Laura Pepper of Ottawa, chief of the Consumers' Service, Department of Agriculture, gave a talk on the importance of the wise selection of foods and the great need to use those in abundance in Canada, thus releasing others which are needed by Great Britain. Women could also show their patriotism by buying normally, and not hoarding, she said.

Garden Fete

Mrs. A. I. Cowan, 1452 Vining Street, will open St. Saviour's annual garden party in the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. MacTavish, 733 Lampton Street, Wednesday, July 9, at 3. Mrs. Cowan is a descendant of Sir George Simpson, who was governor of the Hudson's Bay Company in 1821.

Ladies of the W.A. will be in charge of afternoon tea, and various stalls. The Everise branch will sell candy. There will be generous goose for the children and house-houses and other attractions for the entertainment of young and old.

Mme. Casgrain Sees Big Task Ahead of Women

Forecasting unprecedented opportunities for women to take a part in creating a better life in a rapidly changing world, Madame Pierre Casgrain, president, League for Women's Rights, Montreal, appealed to organized women to be ready to meet the challenge in an address given in the Empress Hotel last evening before a gathering of about 500.

The Canadian Home Economics Association and the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women delegates whom she addressed are a wonderful illustration of the modern woman's life, said Mme. Casgrain.

WIDE INFLUENCE

"These organizations can widely influence the lives of women in Canada," she said, "the economists are taking method and a businesslike efficiency into the management of a home—professional women can give leadership to all women earning their living."

Having entered the fight for giving a better place to women in the community life at the early age of 20, Mme. Casgrain said there is tendency today for the younger generation of women to play too small a part in those organizations which are capable of building better homes and winning recognition in public life for women.

"I was fortunate enough to have been invited to take part by some of the older and experienced women who were big enough to train and coach me," she said.

MUST TRAIN LEADERS

Such organizations as the delegates represented, the speaker urged, could do invaluable work for Canada in giving responsibility to the very young members and provide in their organizations a kind of school for training in public service and leadership.

Thoroughly convinced that the successful home is the foundation for a strong, democratic country as well as a prosperous and happy one, Madame Casgrain said that the home economists in educating the housewife is building one of the most vital ramparts of Canadian democracy.

"Running a home is a first-class job," the speaker declared. "And a poor job, mismanagement, ill-cooked food, waste may not only wreck the home, but ruin a man's career and so effect the life of the whole nation."

Even the man who succeeds in spite of poor home surroundings "might be a genius able to do 10 times the service to his country," she said, if well cared for. Taking an example from the life of Winston Churchill, Mme. Casgrain quoted his tribute to his wife which ended "and I married in 1908 and lived happily ever afterwards."

In teaching food conservation and a knowledge of nutrition home economists are further serving the nation. "They way to man's heart is still through his stomach," said the speaker, "but now the economists point the way and give the 'red and green light' indications on how to feed them properly—whereas in the old days we stuffed them and often gave them indigestion as well."

NEW VALUES

All the good will in the world cannot replace the scientific knowledge that women now have at their disposal in order to build successful homes, business careers and take their place in the national life. But they must be alert and keen to preserve the place they have won in a world in which new values are emerging and tremendous adjustments taking place, she warned.

Calling for an inspired and ardent Canadianism, Madame Casgrain said Canadian women must take an intense interest in developing a national outlook.

"If you are a good housekeeper, you will feel annoyed at prices going up; if you are a wise citizen you will find out why those prices go up and if you are also a citizen with a proper sense of your responsibility you will endeavour to remedy it," she continued.

CANADIAN UNITY

Crossing the prairies and mountains, Madame Casgrain said she had been tremendously moved by the beauty and promise of Canada and felt that if this could not inspire every Canadian to work passionately to help in its development and upbuilding, nothing could.

"I kept thinking of the last time I came up the St. Lawrence on my return from Europe," she said. "An Englishwoman beside me said: 'How much you have to thank God for a country like this.'"

Sectional differences must be buried if Canada is to become the great unified country she should be, continued Mme. Casgrain. "Only when you realize that when we French-Canadians sing 'God Save the King' in French we mean it just as sincerely as you, only when the women of the east and west draw together the bonds of national understanding, shall we have a strong, united Canada, a unity which nothing will ever break."

OFFICIAL GREETINGS

Hon. K. C. MacDonald extended greetings to the delegates on behalf of British Columbia and complimented the two organizations of women on the co-operation they had shown in their meeting side by side this week. Mayor Andrew McGavin, in tendering the city's greetings, reminded the women that as they shared with the men in the responsibility for the present state of world affairs, so they must be ready to share in the building of a new and better world after the war.

Miss Margaret Clay introduced Mme. Casgrain and Miss Jessie McLennan acted as chairman of the meeting. Mr. Pierre Timp, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Timp, sang two solos with his usual effectiveness.

After the meeting a reception in honor of the distinguished guests was held in the lower lounge, where refreshments were served.

During the reception instrumental numbers were played by Miss Lillian Parfitt, violin; Miss Agnes Dennstedt, cello, and Mrs. George H. E. Green, piano.

Canada to Ship Parcels to War Prisoners

TORONTO—The Canadian Red Cross Society, at the request of the Australian Red Cross in Melbourne, is to pack and ship 5,000 prisoner-of-war food parcels each week for Australian soldiers captured in the east by the enemy. Dr. Fred W. Routley, National Commissioner, announced here today.

The Australian Society will pay the costs of this undertaking, which has been turned over to Canada because of the difficulties of shipping in the east. The Australian parcels will be packed in Montreal where a building and equipment will be in operation within three weeks, Dr. Routley said. The Canadian Red Cross will then ship the 5,000 parcels each week to Lisbon.

"The 5,000 food parcels are no indication of the number of Australians taken prisoners of war," Dr. Routley said. The Australian Red Cross, through their secretary-general, Alfred G. Brown, has set this figure until the exact number of their prisoners is established. The Australian parcels will be shipped along with the 10,000 food boxes the Canadian society sends to British prisoners of war in Germany.

The entertainment committee of the Open Door Spiritualist Church will hold a silver tea in the hall, 714 Cormorant Street, Saturday afternoon, from 2.30 to 5. Miss Swan and Mrs. Sweeney will be hostesses and tea and card reading will be given.

BOUQUET TO HER—Mrs. Madge Hall of Victoria, chairman of the convention committee that brought outstanding women of Canada and the United States together for the Business and Professional Women's convention at the Empress Hotel, with the magnificent magnolia blossoms sent to her by the Washington State Federation.

Social and Personal

Mrs. Reed Paige Clark entertained this afternoon at her home "Rifflington," the Uplands, in honor of visiting delegates to the Canadian Business and Professional Women's Clubs convention. About 100 guests were received by the hostess, wearing a smart tailored frock of burgundy print with full skirt. Tea was served in the dining-room, the table being centred with a charming miniature terrace over which were twined pink climbing roses, rose tapers in silver holders being placed at either side. Assisting at tea were Mrs. K. C. MacDonald, Mrs. J. D. Hunter and Miss Eileen MacDonald. Guests roamed through the beautiful gardens, some swimming in the natural pool and punch was served from a table on the lawn.

Praising the enterprise of members and commenting on the excellence of the work and the congenial atmosphere of the home, Mrs. F. W. Hamber, accompanied by Mrs. Mae Rice, visited Esquimalt House yesterday afternoon. Miss Ruby Blythe received the guests, taking them on a tour of the many fine displays which included knitted articles, numberings more than 257, done by the Junior Navy League, organized at Esquimalt House by Mrs. F. Freeman; glove-making, taught by Mrs. Sutherland; weaving, displayed and explained by teacher, Miss Holyoak; water colors done by the class of Miss A. Adamson, and a dressmaking display under the direction of Mrs. J. McNeill. Tea was served from a table centred with a crystal bowl of sweet peas, and was in charge of the house committee under Mrs. A. McKinnon. The invited guests included Mrs. E. V. Finland, Mrs. G. G. Aitken, Mrs. W. J. R. Beech, Mrs. G. Aitken, Mrs. J. Hyde, Mrs. Willis Barrett, Mrs. M. M. Beasley and Mrs. M. Garrett. Presiding at the tea table was Mrs. W. L. Mr. Dalton Cameron of Nelson is spending his holidays with his mother, Mrs. J. Murray Cameron, Foul Bay Road.

After spending the past six weeks in Victoria, Mrs. A. E. Cobus and her little daughter, Mona Jewell, have left for their home in Nelson.

Mrs. Volney P. Mooney of Glendale, California, and her little daughter, Joan, are expected in Victoria next week on a visit to Mrs. Mooney's mother, Mrs. M. Stewart, Robertson Street.

Mrs. H. M. Boyce, Vancouver, will arrive tomorrow to be the house guest of Mrs. James A. Macdonnell and Mrs. J. W. Ruggles, Royal Terrace, for a week while her husband, Lieut. H. M. Boyce, attends training camp at Rodd Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell P. Mickelwait arrived from Seattle yesterday with their two small children, Ann and Semmes, to visit Mrs. Mickelwait's mother, Mrs. John E. Semmes, who arrived from her home in Baltimore, Md., early this week to occupy her home, "Robinwood," the Uplands, for the summer. Mr. Mickelwait will return after the week-end, Mrs. Mickelwait and the children staying for six weeks. Mr. Semmes will fly out from Baltimore later in the summer.

Mrs. William Shields was hostess Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Gray, Sooke, at a miscellaneous shower in compliment to Miss Mollie Lawrence, a July bride-elect. Flowers in pastel shades were effectively arranged throughout the house. The hostess presented the guest of honor with a corsage of carnations and rosebuds and Mrs. Gray with a corsage of roses. Many useful gifts were presented in a daintily decorated pink and white box. Winners of an amusing contest were Mrs. A. Wilson and Mrs. V. Eve. Mesdames Brodie and Gray and Miss Gaignic assisted the hostess in serving refreshments from a table centred with a bowl of pink sweet peas and snapdragons and by pink tapers. Of interest to their many friends in Victoria is the engagement announcement made this week in Vancouver of Helen Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harold Crosby, and Sub-Lieut. Roger Thompson Hager, R.C.N.V.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Hager. They will be married late this month. The bride-elect is a graduate of the University of B.C., with fraternity affiliations in Kappa Kappa Gamma. Mr. Hager is a graduate of California and is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon.

A happy little birthday party was held Tuesday afternoon in honor of the first birthday anniversary of Master Phillip Weeks-Little, at his home, 1354 Pandora Avenue. Invited guests were: The grandparents, Mrs. Gwynn Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. George Little, Mesdames Ralph, Wilson, Setters, Dickie and Morrison and the Misses Dumbleton, Mace and Mercer. The baby's only uncle, Marcus Perry, and Mrs. Eric Traish, a grand-aunt, also attended, having come over from Vancouver for the occasion.

Thirty-five members of the B.C. Electric Railway Tennis Club gathered in the clubhouse, corner of Bowker and St. Ann, last Tuesday for a novelty breakfast, complete with menu cards, several of which were later autographed to send to club members on active service overseas and in other parts of Canada. After enjoying coffee, ham, eggs, toast and other delicacies, members played informal matches, mixed and general games being played throughout the afternoon. Members of the entertainment committee responsible for the affair were: Mrs. M. Ford, the Misses B. Cotter, J. Finch, F. Broughton, and Messrs. W. Laing, A. R. Taylor and W. Stillwell.

Life Daily Battlefield In Great Britain Today

"Life is a daily battlefield in England today, upon which the simplest journey or household matter is a struggle of anxious calculations," Miss Gordon Holmes, of London, told a public gathering this afternoon, held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church under the auspices of the Federation of Business and Professional Women's convention.

Miss Holmes, famous London banker whose spectacular rise in business earned her the name of "Britain's most successful self-made woman," is the president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs of Great Britain and Ireland. Arriving by clipper in New York, she came directly to Victoria to contact representative Canadian women and in inspiring address gave a detailed picture of the life London has been living in the past 20 months of war.

EARS IMPORTANT

Among the changes that have come to London is an important one through which people depend more upon their ears than their eyes for life.

"Wails mean raids, shrieks all clear, rattles its gas, whistles its parachutists, bells its invasion," said Miss Holmes. "Different things make different impressions. Some are most impressed by bombs, some guns, some noise, but to me the first winter of blackout was the worst."

Explaining that people quickly adapt themselves to new conditions of life, Miss Holmes said that the past winter was much better than the first from the "blackout" point of view. Setting the clock back a second hour, shortened office hours give light to those going home from work. "But it seems to me I never see a book or paper or sign upon which the word 'light' appears that it does not spring out at a strike me between the eyes," she said. "It's something precious we can't and mustn't have."

BATTLE OF BUGS

While everyone knows about the millions of gas-masks, the steel shelters and protection against bombs and parachutes, Miss Holmes said there is also the battle "against bugs and parasites" which has been fought and won.

"Best shelters are bombproof, blastproof, fireproof and water-proof—but the really big problem in them is mice," she said. "It's something precious we can't and mustn't have."

Paying tribute to Londoners for their courage which she described as being "as common as daisies" in human beings, Miss Holmes said that "morale" is excellent. The National Council of

A reception was held Wednesday afternoon and evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gung, 1048 Pembroke Street, in honor of their son, George, and his bride, the former Miss Jessie (Jay) Jang of Toronto, who are on their honeymoon. Many Canadian and Chinese friends called to extend their congratulations and best wishes to the young couple. Refreshments were served. Out of town guests were Dr. and Mrs. Edward Gung, eldest son and daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Gung Sr. The young couple were married at Knox Presbyterian Church, Toronto, June 14. George attended public school and high school in Victoria. He graduated from the University of Toronto in engineering in 1937 and has been connected with the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission since graduation. Miss Jang graduated from the department of physiotherapy of the University of Toronto last month. She is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jang Wo of Toronto. They expect to be returning to Toronto at the end of this week.

In honor of Madame Pierre Casgrain, Montreal, Miss Margaret Clay, president of the Canadian Business and Professional Women's Clubs, entertained at a delightfully arranged dinner last night in the Prince Albert private dining-room of the Empress Hotel. Madame Casgrain was later guest speaker at a meeting held in the ballroom under the joint auspices of the Canadian Home Economics Association and the Canadian Business and Professional Women's Clubs. Dinner guests, in addition to Madame Casgrain, included: Miss Gordon Holmes, London; Dr. Lena Madeline Phillips, New York; Miss Kathryn Starbuck, Saratoga Springs, N.Y.; Miss Margaret Wherry, Montreal; Mrs. H. M. Cassidy, San Francisco; Miss Sara Spencer, Miss Violet Wilson, Miss Kathleen Clay, Mrs. H. P.

Mental Hygiene had worried about that and had sent lecturers to shelters to help. One doctor after delivering a lecture on morale returned and asked for another subject.

"I can't deliver that lecture to people who are living examples of the finest kind of morale," he said.

All Europe is in England, said Miss Holmes. All peoples with their own uniforms, flags, national anthems are united in democracy and the battle for the ideals of freedom and their way of life.

ALLIES' ANTHEM

Every Sunday evening "the national anthem of the Allies" is played.

"It starts with the Marseillaise," the speaker explained. "And it continues through nine other national anthems and ends up with 'God Save the King.'"

Clocks in London tell a grim story of the war, she said. On old and new buildings they are there, battered and broken, but the hands still "defiantly pointing to that ghostly, ghastly minute when a blitz struck home."

Miss Holmes thought it was no exaggeration to say that women are perhaps carrying the heavier load in England today. In addition to working, running buses, offices, hospitals and other jobs, then go home to running a household and the complications of collecting food at registered shops.

Describing the work and growth of the federation of business and professional women in England, Miss Holmes said the 12 clubs at the outbreak of war have grown to 40 and more being organized every week.

The study and application of economics—which she described as being in its simplest form "you eat or you don't eat"—has concerned this organization.

WOMEN IN CRISIS

Subjects of further concern to the business and professional women have been the support given to women members of Parliament and seeing future women members: "Whether the nation can afford to turn women out of work when they marry and yet expect to find them trim and ready for work in a moment of crisis; and the importance of the individual in democracy."

"Women in England are tired of talking, there is little time for spare-time pleasures," said Miss Holmes. "Instead of talking about the few prominent women in public life we are now starting an investigation to find the women not prominent and to bring them forward and fit them into the community life."

Wedded in Nave Of Westminster

LONDON (CP)—First wedding in the nave of Westminster Abbey since the Reformation took place after bomb damage made it necessary to revive an old ecclesiastical custom when Kathleen Carnegie, daughter of a former sub-dean at the abbey, married Capt. Raymond Gibbs.

Until the custom was abolished an altar was placed before the organ screen in the nave because the congregation were not allowed to mingle with the abbey monks at the high altar. As a result of a Nazi raid all services now are conducted before a temporary altar in the nave.

Pageantry of an abbey wedding remained. The choir in scarlet cassocks and white surplices stood on each side of the Unknown Warrior's tomb waiting for the bride. At the Great West Door were the robed clergy, headed by the Bishop of St. Albans and the Dean of Westminster.

Garden Fete at 'Ty Colwyn'

In addition there will be home-cooking stalls, under the con- vnership of Miss Gladys Graig- nic and Mrs. W. A. Condor, and home-made candy stalls under the direction of Mrs. Austin and Mrs. D. Lavander. Miss Frona Taylor and Miss Jean Thoruber are arranging a fish pond.

Mrs. Bertram Jenkins of Wil- liam Head, will preside at the tea table. Mrs. Perves-Potts of Albert Head, Miss Lena Mitchell of Victoria and Mrs. W. P. Argue of Vancouver assisting her. Others assisting in the garden will be Mesdames H. S. Morton, S. Shields, W. J. De Rockie, H. E. Whiting, W. J. Orchard, the Misses Faith Osborne, Dorothy Cogswell, Margaret Lorimer, and Mesdames A. Sullivan, Max Elder and B. Acreman.

A cordial invitation is extended to Victorians and up-island residents to visit these attractive gardens.

Royal Children Knit for Canada

TORONTO (CP)—Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose are busy—somewhere in England—knitting a bundle for Canada.

In the bundle will be sweaters, socks and helmets, the same things hundreds of Canadian school- children are making for the Red Cross and for European refugees.

The Royal children are sending their contribution to Toronto so that it can be exhibited along with the prize-winning work of Canadians in the Women's Building of the Canadian National Exhibition, August 22 to September 6.

The competition for Canadian schoolchildren includes mitts, socks, pullovers, parkas, gloves, dresses, pyjamas and under- clothes made by children in elementary, high schools, colleges and vocational schools. After the exhibition all the garments will be sent to Britain.

JUNE WEDDING—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Minnion, who were married quietly last month. The bride was the former Doris Bevan-Allen.

Says Knitting Not The Only Form of War Service

"Don't sidetrack yourself on to canteen work, or knitting, or that kind of work and by a mental kind of chloroform think you are doing the best form of war service. There are plenty of women to pour tea for soldiers. We as business women can make our greatest contribution by trying to enlarge the sphere of our own particular job and doing it to the very best of our ability."

Miss Gordon Holmes of London, England, made this trenchant contribution to an interesting round table discussion held by the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs yesterday on the role of business women in time of war.

Miss Isobel Cummings, provincial vice-president for Ontario, presided at the round table and suggested that, in conformity with Winston Churchill's exhortation, "each to our part, each to our station," business women should function first and foremost by giving full service in their own jobs, if they were functioning efficiently as citizens.

CLOTHES TO BRITAIN

In answer to a question as to how the Canadian Federation could best help the women of Great Britain, Miss Gordon Holmes suggested that the sending of good used clothing, such as had been started by the Vancouver club, might be extended across Canada, as this had proved a veritable Godsend. The method of handling such gifts in England, devoid of red tape, had enabled this clothing to be distributed immediately where it was most urgently needed, and she recalled an old woman who had smiled for the first time after being bombed out of her home when she received a complete outfit of clothing from British Columbia, the business women's shipment.

WOMEN AND DEMOCRACY

In an interesting address at the session, Miss Kathryn Starbuck of Saratoga Springs, New York, declared it essential that women should think through some of the problems which have a bearing on the preservation of democracy. The business women's clubs she looked upon as laboratories in which to find methods of perfecting and improving the democratic way of life. To this end she hoped that the U.S. and Canadian Federations might profitably exchange programs, ideas and projects, to their mutual advantage. Miss Starbuck outlined something of the workings of the U.S. Federation and told of pitfalls encountered and obstacles overcome in its process of growth.

"Mental laziness is one of the biggest handicaps to the realization of the true democracy," she noted, urging every member to accept a share of the responsibilities as well as the privileges of membership and of citizenship. "When we attain 100 per cent participation in both we shall attain most nearly to the democratic ideal," she said in conclusion.

Geoffrey Stewart. Mrs. Robb welcomed the guests in a navy blue and white sheer redingote ensemble with toning accessories and a corsage bouquet of deep pink roses. After the toast had been proposed by Mr. A. Mallinson, the bride cut the cake which stood on a small table lighted with four white tapers and decorated with vases of pink roses. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left at midnight for Vancouver, the bride wearing a grey tailored suit with black and white accessories. They will return to Victoria via the island and later make their home in Regina.

DUNN — SMITH

Wearing traditional white, Margaret Ellen Cecil, third daughter of Mr. J. Cecil Smith and the late Mrs. Smith, became the bride last night at 8.30 at the Church of St. Michael and All Angels, Royal Oak, of Mr. Josias Dunn, eldest son of Mrs. C. H. G. Dunn, Kenneth Street, Saanich, and the late Mr. Dunn. Rev. A. W. Corker of Comox, an old friend of the bride's family, performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the pretty bride looked charming in her wedding gown of white georgette, made on simple lines with long flaring skirt forming a train, the bodice cut with a sweetheart neckline and the long sleeves tapered to points over the hands. Over a filmy veil of Brussels net, she wore an exquisite panel veil of limerick lace, which had been worn by her grandmother on her wedding day. The lace was arranged gracefully over her head, forming a halo in front and she carried a white prayer book with cream roses on top.

Mrs. H. W. Sparks, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a lovely frock of delphinium blue georgette, made with a shirtwaist bodice, full bishop's sleeves and a full skirt. Her chic little blue straw hat was made with a crown of harmonizing flowers and she carried a cascade bouquet of sweet peas and carnations in pink and peach shades. The bridesmaids were Miss Phyllis Smith, sister of the bride, and Miss Hazel Lamont, who were gowned in pale yellow and pale green georgette, the dresses made with shirtwaist blouses and accordion-pleated skirts and full sleeves. On their heads they wore floral head-dresses held with ribbon bandeaux. Their bouquets were composed of multicolored sweet peas. Mr. Jack Dunn, brother of the groom, came from Winnipeg to act as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Pat Dunn, another brother, and Mr. William Ostler. During the service Mrs. M. B. Tribe presided at the organ.

A reception was held at the Royal Oak Inn, where a profusion of lovely summer flowers and greenery made an attractive setting. The three-tier wedding cake formed the centrepiece on the supper table. The guests were received by Mrs. Sparks, the bride's sister, and by Mrs. Dunn, mother of the groom, wearing a becoming gown of navy blue sheer with a navy blue hat and a corsage bouquet of Talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunn left for a motor trip to the interior of British Columbia, the bride traveling in a rose tweed coat and skirt, and rose felt hat, with beige accessories. On their return to Victoria they will take up residence at 343 Michigan Street.

Mrs. T. E. M. Hedley of Port Alberni is visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stewart, Simcoe Street.

Wage Bonus Plan Not Considered Yet

The provincial government has not yet considered Labor Minister McLarty's proposal for a cost of living wage bonus to railway workers, and possibly other employees, Finance Minister John Hart said today.

It is expected the cabinet will discuss the matter at its meeting tomorrow. The government is concerned as the operator of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

British Columbia also has minimum wage scales for numerous occupations but whether any action need be taken on these in the light of Mr. McLarty's proposal could not be learned here today.

ROTARY INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS

Rotary officers for the year were installed at yesterday's luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel by Frank Sehl, installing officer. The meeting was attended by the wives of members, who received souvenirs from last May's district conference held in this city.

The first officer to be installed was the new president, A. C. "Ab" Lindsay, Mr. Sehl introducing him and informed him of his coming duties. On taking the chair Mr. Lindsay spoke briefly, thanking the members for the honor conferred on him. He said that Rotary was the most worldwide organization of its kind, and that if it applied its principles to the development of fellowship and good will throughout the world it would be a great factor in building up friendship and peace on the earth after the war was over. He told members to begin this task of improving the world in their own communities.

Other members inducted into official capacities were Fred Dawson and Jimmy Little, vice-president; Cyril Orme, treasurer; Bill Lemm, sergeant-at-arms, and Joe Doe, Maurice Green, Dan Miller, Cyril Orme, Bob Armstrong and Ralph Snider, members of the board of directors.

Gerald Yardley, retiring president, was installed as immediate past president. Before he left the chair he gave the president's report, referring to the highlights of the past year. During this time the attendance at meetings averaged 84 per cent of the members and the raffling of a diamond and platinum brooch provided $6,000 for the Lord Mayor's Fund.

T. J. "Cappy" Goodlake, on behalf of the club, presented Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Pendray with a gift in appreciation of the work done by this couple during the club's district convention in May.

Miss Peggy Walton, who recently returned to Victoria after extensive studying in New York, rendered vocal selections, "Little Song of Life," "Mademoiselle Marie" and "The Empire Is Marching." She was accompanied by Mrs. C. C. Warn.

Inquiry Day Set

In City Police Court today, Magistrate H. C. Hall set next Tuesday as the day for commencement of a preliminary inquiry of a charge against three sailors, Frank Jenner, Frederick Pheasey and Marcus E. Doyle, of having carnal knowledge of Della Ekland without her consent.

Stuart Henderson appeared for Pheasey and Doyle. Jenner said he had not obtained counsel.

Victoria Honeymoon—centre of Northwest

In the east, when you're on your honeymoon, you go to Niagara Falls.

It's the thing to do. In the west, under similar circumstances, you come to Vancouver Island.

There are so many newlyweds motoring the roads of this island and filling the hotels and bungalow camps that the place is starting to be known as the "Niagara Falls of the west."

There is good reason, of course, for this sudden popularity, although Vancouver Island has always been a favorite honeymoon location.

But now, because of the war, sudden prosperity and the large number of men joining up, there are more marriages taking place in British Columbia. The United States has been shut off as a honeymoon centre. No longer can newlyweds jump into their cars and motor south. The Canadian government isn't a bit romantically minded and won't let honeymoon couples, any more than any other people, take money across the border. So they have to honeymoon at home, and Vancouver Island is a romantic isle to most of them.

14 IN ONE DAY

It is impossible to keep track of the number of honeymoon couples who come to Victoria, but it must reach the 400-mark in a month. One day last week 14 newly-married couples crossed the gulf to Nanaimo. The majority were from Vancouver, but there were couples from many points in the interior as well.

Victoria has now become quite used to a girl arriving by plane to join her betrothed here, the wedding taking place immediately. The man may have been stationed here with the navy, army or air force and sends for his girl.

Honeymoon couples are easily spotted on the streets of the city. Usually they wear brand new clothes. Often she wears a corsage, frequently they hold hands as they look at antique and china shop windows. Mostly they dine at lunch counters; often they rent bicycles and ride into the country for a picnic lunch. They carry cameras.

Day after day the Vancouver papers carry wedding accounts, most of which end with "the bride and groom left on their wedding trip to Victoria and Vancouver Island."

American newlyweds continue to come to Victoria, crossing mostly from Seattle and Port Angeles. But they come from much farther afield, too. It's nothing to run into a new Mr. and Mrs. from California or New York.

A surprising number of them tour in "dad's car." Most fathers and mothers, it seems, are good natured in this regard.

Popular Lectures At Observatory

Each Saturday evening throughout July and August a popular lecture, illustrated by lantern slides, will be given by an astronomer at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory. Following the lectures, the 72-inch reflecting telescope will be explained and demonstrated. Selected celestial objects, described in the lecture for the evening will then be viewed through the telescope.

The lectures will be as follows: July 5—Dr. J. A. Pearce will discuss "Double Stars." The binary systems, Zeta Ursae Majoris and Alpha Herculis will be observed.

July 12—Dr. A. McKellar will speak on "The Nebulae," and the planetary nebula in Draco will be observed, weather permitting. July 19—Dr. C. S. Beals will give a lecture on "New Stars." The ring nebula in Hyrae, and the old Nova in Cygnus, known as P Cygni, will be shown.

July 26—Dr. R. M. Petrie will discuss the subject of "Star Clusters." The great globular cluster in Hercules will be viewed this evening.

The observing period on July 5 will be from 8 to 10; the lecture commencing at 8.15, and the period of observation at 9.

On subsequent Saturday evenings, owing to the introduction of daylight saving time, the visiting hours at the observatory will be from 9 to 11. Lectures will commence at 9.15, and the observation period will be from 10 to 11.

APPLE KOFFY B.C. PRODUCT

Apples grown in British Columbia are being utilized as the basis of a new beverage which is now being produced in this province. It is known as Apple Koffy.

The fruit is processed so that only the moisture is removed, leaving the natural fruit sugar.

Announcement of the manufacture of Apple Koffy in B.C. is made by John Luttin of Vernon, Okanagan Valley, centre of the apple growing industry in the interior of the province.

Research to find other forms of distributing this fruit than in its natural, fresh state has been going on for years. One of the experiments lead to a drink with a coffee flavor of instant recognition, and now its commercial production and distribution has been commenced.

Apple processing has made several marvelous changes in the distribution of this fruit, it now being shipped as concentrates which will withstand all climatic conditions and conserve shipping space and in the growingly popular form of apple juice. This newest development, says Mr. Luttin, will doubtless find a ready response from those who believe in saving foreign exchange and in favoring British Columbia industry.

Cowichan Residents Want Birds Killed

Residents of Duncan and Cowichan yesterday asked Attorney-General Wismer to do something about the damage being done vegetable and flower gardens by pheasants and quail.

The delegation composed of N. E. Suddaby, S. W. Crosland, S. H. Hoskins, H. Graham and L. F. Solly, was introduced by Sam Guthrie, M.P.P. for Cowichan, and presented a petition, signed by 282 persons, asking for a law enabling the birds to be destroyed.

"In order to prevent damage the birds should be trapped or destroyed, but we are advised we are subject to severe penalties if we adopt either course," said the petition. "In many cases, once a crop is destroyed, it cannot be replaced and the damage is such that no monetary compensation will afford relief."

Mr. Wismer gave the delegation a sympathetic hearing and promised he would look into the matter.

Mrs. Marion C. McGovern, 3147 Quadra Street, has received word that her brother, Dr. Angus A. Dr. Campbell is also a brother-in-law of Mrs. L. Campbell, Quadra Street.

Your Country needs your savings!
Your family needs protection!

THIS NEW

"VICTORY POLICY"

GIVES THE ANSWER!

Whatever your job, whatever your income, you should be investing regularly in War Savings Certificates and other war loans. This is essential. Yet your family needs adequate protection, too!

Since most people have only a limited amount of money for investment, how can these two essential needs be met from your war-time budget? A new "VICTORY POLICY" has been specially designed by The Mutual Life of Canada to meet this problem. This policy is another example of The Mutual Life's initiative in developing a special service to meet the needs of Canadian families.

Answering your questions about the "VICTORY POLICY"

- Q. How does this policy help me fit adequate insurance protection into my present war savings plan?
A. Exceedingly low premiums for a fixed period of years while you are investing in War Savings Certificates. This will allow you to aid your country and at the same time give your family the financial protection they need.
- Q. Is there an increase in the premiums at the end of the fixed period of years?
A. Yes. But even this premium is lower than the normal rate. And the policy is so arranged that as your War Savings Certificates mature you can use them to pay your insurance premium.
- Q. Is this a term policy or a permanent plan of insurance?
A. This is a permanent plan. It has been specially prepared to meet existing needs but is also designed for future protection.
- Q. Has the policy any other special features?
A. Yes. The policy has a number of attractive features which will be explained by the company's representatives.
- Q. Who can obtain this new policy?
A. The new "Victory Policy" is available to every adult who is insurable... and is especially attractive to men and women with modest incomes.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

MANY superstitious horsemen will have nothing to do with grey horses, which is why they are rarely seen at the races these days.

Greyhound, greatest of trotters, was gelded because he was a gangling, awkward yearling... and grey.

But Mahmoud's progeny may cause a lot of owners to change their minds and may soon return grey horses to popularity on this continent.

For Mahmoud, unbeaten in 14 starts in England, is grey, but what is far more important he is by Blenheim II, the sire of Whirlaway.

The war enabled a United States syndicate headed by young Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt to purchase Mahmoud from the Aga Khan for $250,000.

Mahmoud bagged the English Derby as a three-year-old at a mile and a half with 126 pounds up in 1936.

Another eastern group bought The Satrap, a grey, at a fancy figure in England. He failed to stand training in the U.S., but has produced a number of grey runners.

Royal Mhstrel, another grey-hued Briton, has many sons and daughters on American strips. King Cotton, a sprint winner at Lincoln Fields this season, is one of them, and is grey.

Swahn, Melodist and Margo G., are other greys at Crete now. Swain, who moves up yards in mud, won the Arlington Futurity in the slop last year, but it will be recalled that he ran a smacking last on a fast oval in the Kentucky Derby.

Tred Avon and Sir Greysteel belong to the grey family. Tred Avon could pick 'em up and lay 'em down. Sir Greysteel galloped with success several years ago.

Races used to be made up entirely of greys, and they were attractive. Perhaps the reason for the prejudice against greys can be traced to the fact that one has yet to win the Kentucky Derby, and that the same applies to most of the traditional and richer fixtures on this continent.

Mahmoud's kids may be able to do something about that.

During the course of his recent golf exhibitions against Babe Ruth the great Ty Cobb disclosed the reasons why he quit baseball while he still was able to hit better than .300 and cover an acre or two of outfield.

He didn't want young fellows coming to ball games, gazing in disbelief at a low-geared, bay-windowed gent with the middle-age spread wheezing around out there, and muttering to themselves.

"So that's the great Ty Cobb. He must have been playing with the Elm Street Tigers instead of the Detroit Tigers when he made all those records."

A touch of pride, sure, but Ty is smart enough to know that he was good, that to countless Americans, young and old, his name is the symbol of speed, dash, hitting ability, everything that goes to make up a great ball player, and that to destroy this picture in the hearts of the fans would be a crime, no less.

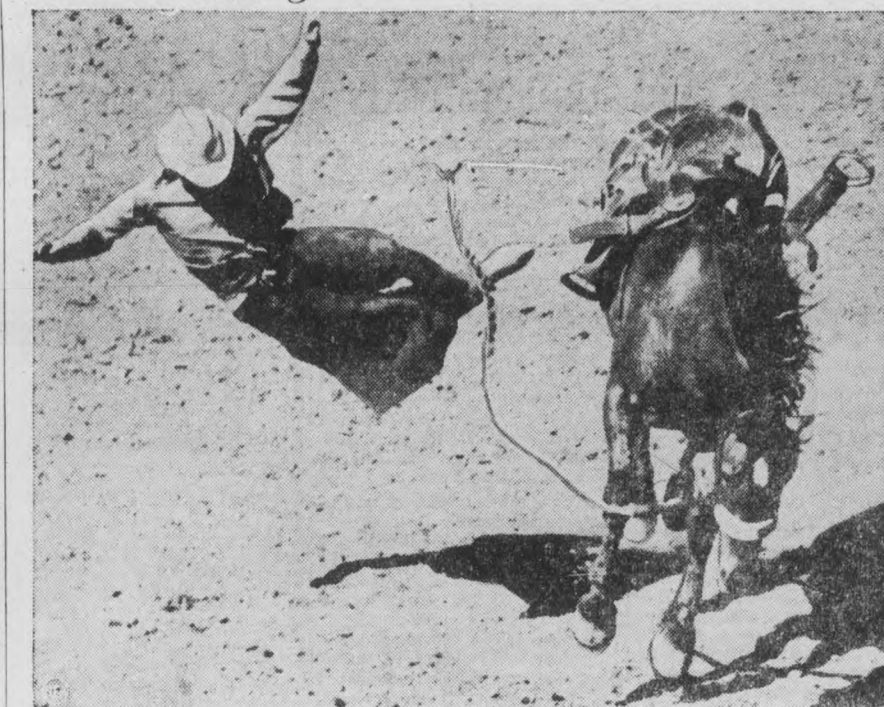

"I didn't want to, at my age and weight, disillusion a lot of people," he explains simply. "Then, too, I was tired after being in the game 24 years. Also, I wanted to quit while I still was hitting better than .300, and they were catching up with me."

"And still another reason, I was getting apprehensive about getting hit. That Ray Chapman tragedy was fresh in my mind. I'd never been beamed. Once Walter Johnson, who never threw at a man intentionally in his life, spun my cap around. That," he says whimsically, "is pretty close."

Cobb thinks many ball players get hit by pitchers because they are anchored at the plate. He thinks the helmet idea is all right, but that players would be inclined to use the headgear as an excuse when they weren't hitting. As for Bob Feller's warning that the opposition had better not try to call his pitches, Ty says:

"I never took a signal on a pitch in my life. Good batters never would. You're up there on your own."

Forced Landing

Like many temporary residents of Reno, where they are warming up for rodeo, this broncho and its rider decided to separate.

Grove Still Punching

Wins 299th Game

When the greater pitchers of all time in baseball are recalled, Robert Moses (Lefty) Grove always will have a place on the honor roll.

He is 41 years old, leathery cheeked and getting grey haired. But he still is a winning pitcher and yesterday he achieved the 299th triumph of his long and memorable career.

He subdued Philadelphia Athletics 5 to 2 for the beleaguered Boston Red Sox, who needed the victory desperately. The old hero of another era had wonderful control and never walked a man. He just kept tossing his curves and his changes of pace where the batters didn't want them and kept the foe scoreless except in the fifth inning when Dick Siebert's triple was followed by two singles and a fly.

Jim Tabor hit a three-run double in the first inning to give the veteran a nice start and Ted Williams homered with one on in the eighth.

HAS WON SIX

Grove, taking plenty of rest between starts, now has won six games and lost only two this season. When he reaches the 300-victory goal he will be one of 12 pitchers to accomplish the feat and first since Grover Cleveland Alexander.

This was the only game in the American League yesterday. The action in the National League was confined to two contests with Chicago Cubs nosing out St. Louis Cardinals 2 to 1 and Boston Braves beating the Phillies 4 to 1.

Both the Chicago runs were unearned as the Cards nullified the five-hit pitching of Max Lanier and Howard Kist by making three errors. Claude Passeau also pitched five-hit ball, and drove in the deciding run with a single in the seventh.

The defeat dropped St. Louis into a tie with the idle Brooklyn Dodgers for the National League lead.

Boston's triumph was scored behind the five-hit hurling of Al Javery, who held the Phillies scoreless until the eighth.

COAST LEAGUE

Dark days are ahead for Sacramento unless the Coast League leaders can rediscover the formula for winning games.

Hitting the low ebb in an extended slump, the Solons were shut out 2 to 0 last night by Portland, a team that has been groping in the cellar most of the season.

It was Sacramento's second successive blanking at the hands of the Beavers—and it came on the heels of five losses in seven games with second-division Hollywood last week.

Seattle clinched its hold on second place by nosing out San Diego 5 to 4 in a 13-inning game. Los Angeles ousted the tottering San Francisco Seals from fourth place by beating Oakland 7 to 6.

Bill Cissell, second baseman recently released to San Francisco by Hollywood, muffed a pop fly for the error that gave Hollywood a 1 to 0 victory over the Seals.

ADANACS WIN

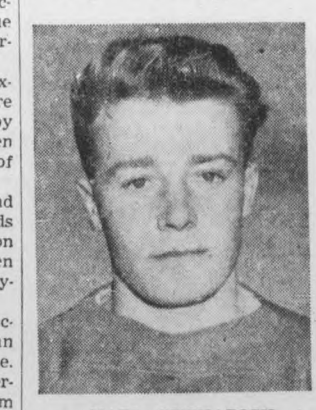

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—Adanacs entrenched themselves more firmly in third place in the Inter-city Lacrosse League standings last night when they walloped North Shore Indians 27 to 13 and pushed the Redskins deeper into the league cellar.

The Braves were out in front 7 to 4 at the end of the first quarter but withered under two nine-goal bursts by the rampaging Adanacs in the second and final quarters.

Play Tonight

KARL OVCHARICK

the former an Alert warrior and the latter a member of Joker brigade who will face each other at the Sports Centre this evening at 8.30 in a replay of a 16 to 16 tie game played last week. Ovcharick, rover on Harry Sargison's team, is recognized as one of the smartest playmakers in the league as well as being a superb stick-handler and scoring threat. Uttke, front line member of Jimmy Smith's juggernaut, packs one of the hardest shots in the league and is always a source of worry for opposing goalies. Both teams are as evenly matched as similar weights on a balance scale, and promise to show as good a game of lacrosse as has been exhibited this season. McLean's Bakery and Douglas Tire, junior teams, will meet in a preliminary at 7, and at 6 Clarkson's Painters and Oakland, juvenile entries, will cross sticks. Alert line-up follows: Patrick, Holyoak, Robinson, Malcolm, Williams, Pickford, Noel, Price, Albany, K. Ovcharick, A. Ovcharick, Vember and Coates.

Having obtained additional entries from Nanaimo officials of the Greater Victoria Lawn Bowling Association have revised the draw for tomorrow's Peace Cup play. The competition is to determine the island men's singles championship, and all matches will be played at the Victoria Club.

Play will start at 9. W. W. Davidson, Burnside Club, will defend his title.

First Angling Meet At Brentwood July 13

Longshoremen Defeat R.C.A.F.

The lone wolves of the senior A softball league, Longshoremen-Causeway, went to work on an R.C.A.F. team from Patricia Bay in an exhibition game last evening and, as usual, came out on top 10 to 5.

The airmen made a dandy start, scoring four of their five runs in the opening stanza. After that young Joe Bryant, Longshoremen pitcher, held the Pat Bay boys for seven innings. They scored their fifth run in the ninth.

Longshoremen hit 17 base knocks, which included home runs by Vic Dale and Harry Holness. Trudal hit a four-bagger for the air force in the opening inning.

League officials announced after the game that plans would be made to have the two teams play again next Thursday evening at Athletic Park. The air force team will be strengthened.

OTHER GAMES

Two other games last evening resulted in wins for Cameron Lumber and Kayvees. Cameron Lumber beat V.M.D. 5 to 3 after taking a four-run lead in the first two innings.

V.M.D. was held scoreless until the sixth inning, when one of the runs was scored. Two more arrived in the eighth.

Kayvees walloped Hudson's Bay 24 to 10 in a wild sort of game in which the winning pitcher, Fields, banged out two home runs. Inglis and Crockett also hit homers for the winners.

Killarney L Speeds to Win

Ward Rallies To Win Match

COLORADO SPRINGS (AP)—

A double order of golf fireworks, served up in today's Independence Day card at the 42nd western amateur tournament with two sets of 18-hole matches, will hammer the field down to four finalists by sundown.

The two prime favorites—defending champion Marvin (Bud) Ward and medalist Harry Todd—checked in for the second day of match competition. Ward after one of the tightest squeaks of his career.

Ward, 1939 national amateur king from Spokane, Wash., found himself trailing by three holes on the 14th, yesterday, then struck back with two pars and two birdies for a 1-up victory over Rodney Bliss, Omaha veteran. He drew Warren Berl, Stanford and San Francisco performer, in today's second round.

Todd, 1939 western winner from Dallas, rolled over Lyman Wright, Colorado Springs ex-probation buster, with his prodigious hitting attack, 7 and 6, and drew Claude Wright, young Denver plasterer, today in the bracket opposite Ward's.

Tennis professional Ellsworth Vines shot a one under par to gain a somewhat surprising 2-and-1 verdict over Marshall Carlson, University of Toledo golfer.

Bonetti Seeks Reinstatement

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Pitcher

Julio Bonetti launched a move to gain reinstatement in baseball yesterday, and President David P. Fleming of the Los Angeles club announced that his war against gambling elements "has just begun."

Bonetti, hoping to obtain another hearing before Judge William G. Bramham, high commissioner of minor league baseball, blamed himself for his suspension for what he termed an innocent contradiction of true facts of the case.

Fleming, who recently intensified an anti-gambling campaign which he has waged for many years, declared flatly:

"The war has just begun."

Fleming, whose Los Angeles club started the Bonetti investigation—and consequently lost the services of a pitcher valued at $25,000—and Judge Bramham emphasize that the San Francisco-born moundsman was not guilty of "throwing" baseball games.

He was accused of associating with men suspected of gambling connections.

The big pitcher led the Angels this season with seven victories and three defeats.

Handsomeness Prize List Released

Saanich Arm is the scene of much activity these days as Victoria fishermen prepare for the staging of the first derby of the season by the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association on Sunday, July 13.

Fishing will commence at 6 in the morning and conclude at 4 in the afternoon. This season it has been decided to advance the closing hour in order to windup the day's activities much earlier than in the past.

Presentation of prizes will take place at 5 at the Anchorage, with George I. Warren making the awards.

Competitors will be able to weigh in their catches at three locations—Anchorage, Stacey's and Mill Bay. Art Worth, local agent of the Toledo Scale Co., has agreed to act as official weight master for the competition, and will provide a large dial scale at the Anchorage. This will assure anglers of a true weight on their catches.

Last night the association officials got together and set the prize list for the first competition. To the angler landing the biggest salmon will go a beautiful three-piece chesterfield suite. The second prize will be a handsome cabinet radio. Other awards include: Three, vacuum cleaner; 4, split cane rod, reel and wire line; 5, reel and wire line; 6, camera and film; 7, gas stove; 8, smoking set; 9, mariner's clock; 10, rose bowl; 11, bond planer; 12, tackle box; 13, radio lamp; 14, 900 feet wire line; 15, assortment of spoons and plugs; 16, rose bowl; 17, casserole, and 18, 600 feet wire line.

Jo-Jo White Out Of Play for Month

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—

Joyner (JoJo) White, regular left fielder of the Seattle baseball team, will be lost to the Rainiers for a month as a result of a leg injury received during Wednesday night's game with the San Diego Padres here. White, a former Detroit Tiger world series hero, pulled a leg muscle while sliding into second base. His place in the line-up will be taken by Spencer Harris, a former Padre player.

Victorian Graduates With Distinction

SASKATOON (CP)—With the United States and nearly every province of Canada represented, another group of airmen received their wings in a ceremony at No. 4 service flying training school here yesterday.

Group Capt. A. Duncan Bell-Irving, officer commanding, presented the wings in the most colorful and impressive ceremony held since the school went into operation.

Graduated with distinction were C. W. Brodigan of Victoria; L. D. Graham, Dutton, Ontario, and E. Vanier, Montreal.

(Brodigan, 20, son of Mrs. C. A. Brodigan, 1028 Verrinder Avenue, left the Imperial Bank last October to train with the Canadian Air Force. He was born in Calgary.)

"BILL" BRODIGAN

Among others who graduated were Harold Bischlager, Esquimalt; T. F. Cornwall, Kamloops; L. E. Keene, White Rock; V. N. Salmon, Vancouver; E. J. W. Mullins, Vancouver; R. S. Brimacombe, Vancouver, and W. S. Ford, Seattle.

(Bischlager is the son of Rev. Arthur Bischlager, Anglican chaplain to the Royal Canadian Navy, and Mrs. Bischlager, 1114 Munro Street, Esquimalt.)

Joins Artillery

Meanwhile, his sister, Gracie, has joined the Field Ambulance Nursing Yeomanry branch of the Women's Transport Corps in England. She has been nursing at Guildford Hospital, Surrey.

Rides Five Winners At Hollywood Park

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jockey Bill Pearson tied the Hollywood Park record yesterday by hitting the winner's circle five times in the eight races in which he rode.

The feat equaled the performance of little Silvio Coucci in 1938.

Pearson, leading jockey at the meeting, started out by taking the first two races, one on a 20-1 shot, Tripaway. He piloted Sun Home to win the fourth, and followed with Winnamucca in the fifth. In the seventh he came in with Justice M., the favorite.

Speculation in Far East

Japanese Eye Vladivostok For U.S. Aid—Russia Move

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese government is giving serious consideration to the possibility the United States may send aid to Russia via the Pacific port of Vladivostok, an official spokesman indicated today.

In a press conference discussion of the Vladivostok situation, Koh Ishii, the cabinet spokesman, said the government had been discussing the question of an extension of the limits of Japan's territorial waters beyond the international recognized three-mile zone.

EYES ON STRAITS

Press discussions of this question recently have indicated that Japan might take some action to close two narrow straits between Japanese islands by which ships from the Pacific normally reach Vladivostok.

Newspaper discussions has centered on the Soya Strait, between Hokkaido and Sakhalin, only 25 miles wide, and the still narrower Tsugaru Strait, between Hokkaido and Honshu, the main Japanese island.

(The implication is that Japan might declare her territorial waters extended far enough to cover entirely these narrow passages and bar alien ships from them. During the prohibition era the United States extended her territorial waters to 12 miles to facilitate the fight against rum runners.)

(Vladivostok is on the Sea of Japan, which is almost entirely enclosed by a huge arc of Japanese islands.)

WATCH FOR PLANES

Ishii was asked how Japan would regard the possible stationing of U.S. planes at Vladivostok. This, the spokesman replied, Japan would consider "an unfriendly act" as she already regards the sending of U.S.-made planes to Singapore, Batavia, in the Netherlands East Indies, and Chungking, China's capital.

The Japanese press has been referring to recent U.S. moves in this region as a "blockade of Japan" and "encirclement."

Shanghai Rumors Say Japan to Move

SHANGHAI (AP)—Unconfirmed reports circulated in Shanghai today the Japanese army and navy were preparing to move within a fortnight against southern French Indo-China and occupy Saigon, its chief port and metropolis.

This was one of several reports concerning Japan's next move—none of which could be confirmed and all of which were either denied or discounted by Japanese spokesmen here. Non-Japanese officials, however, recalled that in the past intimations of impending Japanese action have leaked out and been similarly denied.

It was reported the Japanese plan was also to demand air bases in Thailand for the ostensible purpose of bombing China's Burma Road. Actually, some observers believed, the purpose of these moves would be to create a new crisis in the Far East, threaten Singapore and the Netherlands East Indies and thereby discourage any relaxation of United States watchfulness in the Pacific which might permit additional aid to Britain and China.

Some informed persons expressed belief that Germany demanded Japan make such a move in return for the Axis recognition this week of the Japanese-sponsored regime of Wang Ching-wei.

Spiritual Offensive an Essential to Victory

An "offensive" on the intellectual and spiritual front as well as the action front is one of the urgent conditions of victory in the war and revolution which is changing the world today. Dr. Lena Madelin Phillips, New York City, declared in a luncheon address to the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women meeting in convention at the Empress Hotel here today.

Describing herself as having been a pacifist for many years, Dr. Phillips, president of the International Federation, said: "It is not true to say war settles nothing. Actual fighting may not, but it destroys the obstruction which lies in the path of human progress sometimes."

"We can't sit down and believe and then expect to win," she said. "We are all pacifists in the sense that we love peace, but there comes a moment when the menace is so great that only total sacrifice can save the liberties for our children and future generations which make the difference between living in peaceful freedom—or slavery."

WORLD FEDERATION

Forecasting "a common army, common disarmament, a common handling of colonies, lowered tariffs, changing laws of immigration, greater efforts in education," Dr. Phillips continued:

"I don't know how these things will be worked out—but they are problems which must be faced and solved, or we will again lose the peace as we did in 1918, and for which, I confess, I believe my own country fully shares the responsibility."

A vision of some sort of world federation is emerging from the confusion of conflicting ideas and aspirations in the world, Dr. Phillips said.

"It will not be enough to lick Hitler. He only symbolizes something, and if we sit down as soon as the war is over we will repeat the catastrophe of the past 25 years."

Nations will need to be willing to sacrifice some phases of their national pride and prerogatives. Already the peoples "taking such terrible punishment in the war in Europe" are realizing and one of the most hopeful phases of the war is the spiritual regeneration which all the letters, books and accounts are reflecting as they come out of Europe.

MISS BLESSING

Canadian and Americans may escape this physical punishment through their favored geographical position, she said. "But we stand in great danger of losing the blessing as well."

Not being thrown into the struggle on this continent people are not having their sense of values altered as drastically as the new world may require. "Letters from England tell me they have no more time for petty troubles, niceties in food, clothing or entertaining," Dr. Phillips said.

"Yet they say they find the new life exciting and satisfying as nothing they have ever before experienced."

Women have a great part to play if they will gear themselves psychologically to meet our problems here, she said. Preparation mentally and spiritually to take part in the reconstruction, to face squarely that we live in a closely integrated world of interdependence and mutual sharing of responsibilities will help win the peace.

B.C. 1940 Output Surpassed $250,000,000

Final official figures on the 1940 output of British Columbia's four basic industries now being compiled for annual provincial government reports reveal that production reached an all-time peak of more than $250,000,000. Activity during the first six months of this year, particularly in the lumbering and mining divisions, indicates this record may even be exceeded in 1941.

The forest branch, in releasing its 1940 statement, placed production at $102,804,000, which is $9,000,000 more than the previous record established in 1928, and exceeds by $39,600,000, or 60 per cent, the average for the last 10 years.

The report comments:

"The year, 1940, brought to every major branch of the forest and wood using industries in British Columbia the best-filled order files, the highest peak of employment, and the nearest approach to total capacity production in this history of the province... the major part of the record production was for urgent war purposes in England and Canada."

Other government departments are completing their estimates of 1940 production. Fisheries reached $21,710,167, an increase of $4,000,000 and the best output in a decade. Mineral production set an all-time record of $75,352,370, of which gold accounted for $23,350,019. Agricultural totals are not yet completed but are known to have exceeded $50,000,000.

B.C. Park System 6,395,389 Acres

British Columbia now has 6,395,389 acres or 9,994 square miles of its forest, mountain, lake and stream areas set aside as provincial park reservations for the enjoyment of the public, it is shown in the annual forest branch report today.

They come under the parks administration system set up in recent years and many have been developed with trails and recreational facilities.

There are 46 park areas in all, ranging from localized playgrounds of less than an acre up to the huge Tweedsmuir Park in the Bella Coola area, which covers 3,456,000 acres, and Wells Gray Park, in the Clearwater Lake region, which takes in 1,164,800 acres.

The other enormous forest parks are Garibaldi, northeast of Vancouver, covering 622,720 acres; Strathcona Park, west of Courtenay, covering 529,920 acres, and Mount Robson Park, covering 513,920 acres. These three are administered under separate acts.

Under the latest classification there are 15 Class A parks, totaling 104,262 acres, coming directly under the forest branch. Six are on Vancouver Island. There are 25 Class C parks, totaling 3,320 acres, which are handled by local boards. Class B takes in Tweedsmuir, Wells Gray and the Sooke Mountain Park of 1,446 acres, near Victoria.

FINDS EASTERN FACTORIES BUSY

For the first time in many years, eastern Canadian factories are all displaying "help wanted" signs instead of placards stating "no help wanted," Edward Mallek said today following his return from a flying trip to Toronto and Montreal.

Mr. Mallek said that not only war industries, but manufacturers of goods for civilian use in eastern Canada are active night and day. He said shortage of labor is becoming increasingly evident in many lines of manufacture and that industrial wages in some cases have been more than tripled since before the war.

27 Days to Pay $1

Dollars are really scarce with one sailor who appeared in City Police Court today to answer a charge of disobeying a traffic signal while walking in town. The sailor, with an expression of amusement on his face, pleaded guilty to the charge. "I fine you $1," said Magistrate Henry C. Hall.

"Can I have until pay day to pay?" asked the sailor. "When is pay day?" asked the magistrate. "The end of the month," was the reply. This time it was Magistrate Hall who had an amused expression on his face as he asked City Prosecutor Claude L. Harrison whether he would object to the request being granted. "I think the young man should be given time to pay," said the prosecutor, and the sailor was given 27 days to pay his $1 fine.

True Family Life Is Essential to Children

The importance of a natural affection and of true family life in a child's development along healthy, normal lines, was emphasized by Mrs. Katharine Taylor, Ph.D., consultant in family life education in Seattle schools, at a meeting of the Canadian Home Economics Association convention yesterday afternoon.

After touching upon the effect of the mother's love and care during the first year of a child's life, when love was to the child's personality what food was to its body, Mrs. Taylor dealt with the necessity of close co-operation between the parents and school teachers, that a mutual understanding of the child and his surroundings and troubles might develop. The emotional condition of the child had a great influence on his development and scholastic progress, and the speaker stressed the importance of parents trying to understand their children and taking time to discuss their problems with them.

School teachers were now striving to ascertain the effect of the school programs on family life, and adjustments were being made gradually, which gave a more peaceful atmosphere at home and would "emancipate the child emotionally."

In dealing with the growing child and the adolescent, Mrs. Taylor emphasized the importance of parents taking the natural phases of the child's development calmly, and she recommended they take a sincere interest in all the child's activities.

She also recommended that the women's organization combine its efforts with the parents and teachers to work for better understanding of their mutual problems and a happier family life.

War At Sea

Nazi U-Boat Ace Boasts As British Take Him

Canadian Press
The grim story of an attack by a pack of U-boats upon a large convoy approaching the shores of Britain and the resulting capture of Commander Otto Kretschmer, U-boat ace, is told by a Saint John man who was an eye witness of the attack.

At least three German submarines were accounted for, he said. He is Charles Damery, 30, who was serving as an oiler on a British steamship when the attack occurred.

"Ours was the slowest ship in the convoy and we were having quite a time all the way across," he said. "We knew we were being trailed by subs and our escort destroyers were keeping a constant sharp lookout."

"Then, all of a sudden, the attack."

"It was a bold one. They came in right among us, popping up for a sight, slinging their torpedoes and then crash-diving."

TWO LOST LIVES

"A torpedo struck us in No. 3 hold and we took to the boats. There were about 40 of us and we didn't find out until later that the explosion of the torpedo took the life of the bosun and another man."

"A torpedo passed right under our lifeboat, going for our already stricken ship. But the ship had veered off when steam was shut off and the torpedo missed her. It struck a tanker in the convoy."

"A destroyer picked us up and then went after the subs with another destroyer. Our depth charges finally caught up with the Jerries."

"Three of the subs surfaced like corks, badly disabled by the explosions. The sea was dotted with Nazi sailors. They kept yelling 'kamerad' and 'au secour' (help). One of the subs in the distance signalled an SOS with her light.

"We picked up about 45 survivors from the three subs. When Kretschmer came aboard the destroyer he gave a stiff Nazi salute, arm extended, and said 'Heil Hitler'."

HEILED HITLER

"The destroyer skipper said 'None of that stuff here' and Kretschmer smirked and heeled Hitler again."

"He was a hawk-faced man of about 40, I'd say, and he boasted that he'd have got more of us if he hadn't run out of torpedoes."

"He kept asking questions about equipment on the destroyer but outside of that kept pretty mum. If he was happy or sorry about being captured, he didn't show it. The destroyer crew was mighty happy to have bagged such a big shot. He was ranked next to Gunther Prien, the U-boat commander who'd made the successful attack at Scapa Flow early in the war, but Prien is now believed dead so that made Kretschmer the No. 1 prize."

"The rank and file of the German sailors thought they were going to be liquidated for their U-boat activities. When they were told they'd be put in an internment camp in Britain they were surprised."

"One of them said: 'That's excellent. But very stupid of you. The Germans are going to own Britain in a few weeks.'"

Damery plans to be off to sea again soon. Another ship on which he had served was lost in an ordinary shipwreck.

Ferries Crowded By U.S. Visitors

American crowds trooped into Victoria today to celebrate the Glorious Fourth on Canadian soil.

From Seattle, Port Angeles and Anacortes, many brought their cars with the intention of extending the holiday over the week-end. The Iroquois early this morning carried a capacity load of passengers and autos from Seattle and Port Angeles.

Decks of Ss. Princess Kathleen were black with people when she docked at 12.50 from Seattle. Several hundred checked in at the Empress Hotel during the day, the registration comparing well with previous years in the number of Independence Day visitors.

The other city hotels were also busy, the extra influx being taken care of by the Dominion, Strathcona, Metropolis, Douglas, Glenish and Windermere. All the local hostellers reported exceptional registrations covering the holiday week-end.

Stay-over arrivals were heavy, despite the fact that President Roosevelt declined to grant a full week-end holiday owing to defence needs.

July 4 usually heralds the opening of the midsummer season in Victoria, and from now on there will be plenty of Americans and American license-plate cars on the streets of the city and island highways.

In anticipation of the holiday traffic today the immigration and customs services were extra staffed to facilitate the arrival of the visitors.

So great was the rush of travel later in the day that the Black Ball ferry Iroquois doubled back from Port Angeles at 1.30 this afternoon, arriving here with a full load at 2.30.

Skipper Disappears

VANCOUVER (CP) — Einar Hagen, 36, disappeared from the fishboat Sea Angel half a mile off White Island yesterday, two other members of the crew reported to police here.

Hagen, skipper of the craft, was piloting the boat when he apparently fell overboard. William Murray, mate, discovered Hagen's disappearance when he came on deck after talking with deckhand Jack Keleng in the galley.

Keleng and Murray, who had gone below to inspect the engines after talking with Hagen a few minutes before, became suspicious of something wrong when the boat took a sharp swing to port. Murray told police he went on deck and could find no sign of Hagen.

After circling about for some time, the two men returned the boat, which was headed for Comox, to Vancouver to report the accident to police.

Japan Shuffles Steamer Routes

TOKYO (AP) — Rescheduling of the sailing of the steamship Kimikawa Maru was announced by the Japanese post office today.

The post office last night made public cancellation of the sailings of the Kimikawa Maru and the Bordeaux Maru, both of which had been listed to depart for New York.

In its latest announcement, it said the Kimikawa Maru would sail July 8. Cancellation of the voyage of the Bordeaux Maru remained in effect. That ship was understood to be in government use.

The cabinet's information board said that some Japanese ships, especially on long foreign routes, had been recalled for service nearer home. It added, however, this was due entirely to the shortage of shipping space on routes nearer Japan.

Survey to Speed Shipbuilding

OTTAWA (CP) — Munitions Minister Howe announced today a detailed survey of principal Canadian plants "which are or can be employed" in contributing component parts for cargo vessel construction is in progress.

Mr. Howe said the move had been decided on because production of ships on schedule depended on the "regular flow of components" from manufacturers to shipyards.

The minister also said a system has been arranged for controlling purchase and distribution of various components.

"It is the purpose of this control," said the minister's statement, "to see that the components are manufactured in sufficient number and shipped in time to meet the requirements of the shipyards."

Mr. Howe said that in order to meet shipbuilders' schedules, timetables are arranged for production of all principal components. Output of each item will be supervised by "competent engineers."

The supervision will be conducted on a "zone" system, with subordinate offices in principal manufacturing districts. The first zone office already has been opened in Vancouver.

The announcement said "several keels" under the cargo vessel construction program already have been laid. It is anticipated the first of the ships will be completed and ready for service by December.

The cargo vessel program is being conducted by Wartime Merchant Shipbuilding Ltd., a government-owned company.

The expanded figures reflect higher income tax rates now in effect, a greater national income and the installment plan of tax payments which started early this year.

Revenue from income tax during the first three months of this fiscal year, April-June, reached a total of $238,578,197 as against $117,891,134 received during the corresponding period of 1940-41, a net increase of $120,687,063. Collections for the three-month period in British Columbia and the Yukon were $19,465,839, as compared with $10,814,264 in April-June last year.

Lofoten Islands Are Centre of Codfish Industry

If you sail north along the coast of Norway, you will at length come to the Lofoten islands. They are above the Arctic Circle, and are famous for the "fishing grounds" near them. The Lofoten islands are remains of a mountain range. Other parts of the range sank under the sea long ago. Some of the peaks were left above water, and they are the islands of today.

Fishing boats beside port in Lofoten islands.

Those mountain tops are not just points of land. They have an area of 475 square miles, and 22,000 people live on them.

We may wonder why so many people would care to live that far north. There are two answers—good fishing and a fairly good climate.

The climate is not so cold as that of inland parts of Norway above the Arctic Circle. The Gulf Stream goes by these islands and warms them to some extent even in winter.

Spring is a busy season around the Lofoten islands. Men from many parts of northern Europe join the native fishermen in catching cod. Vast shoals of the fish swarm into the area in late winter or early spring, and thousands of tons of codfish are caught each year.

The cod liver oil industry grew out of the catching of cod. Before anyone learned about vitamin D, the Norwegians and other people of the northland obtained it from cod liver oil. In that way they were saved from poor teeth, and from the disease called "rickets" in which the bones are not in good condition.

Lofoten fishermen meet danger in their work. Sudden storms come up and vessels are likely to be wrecked if they do not make port in a hurry.

Between two of the Lofoten islands is the fearful whirlpool called the "Maelstrom." A story about it was written by Edgar Allan Poe. Poe made the place seem more horrible than it really is, but even so it is dangerous.

Vessels have crossed the Maelstrom safely, but they are almost sure to be wrecked if they try to do so when a strong wind blows against it between high tide and low tide.

The Maelstrom at times has picked up whale and swept them so far ashore that they were "stranded" and could not get back into the sea.

Adverse aspects are noted for today. Position of Saturn and Uranus may cause excitement, disputes and accusations. Much trouble may be caused by persons who meddle in the affairs of others. Money matters may cause worry and the seers advise thrift at this time. Both men and women should refrain from making purchases and should conserve their resources for the time being. Women will do well to cultivate an amiable attitude as this will go a long way in overcoming domestic difficulties that may arise.

Astrologers foresee the presence of a strong peace party within Germany and state that its numbers may increase as the summer wears on.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am in love with a man who says he loves me, but doesn't know whether he loves me enough to marry me, and who tells me that I will have to wait until he makes up his mind. What shall I do? READER.

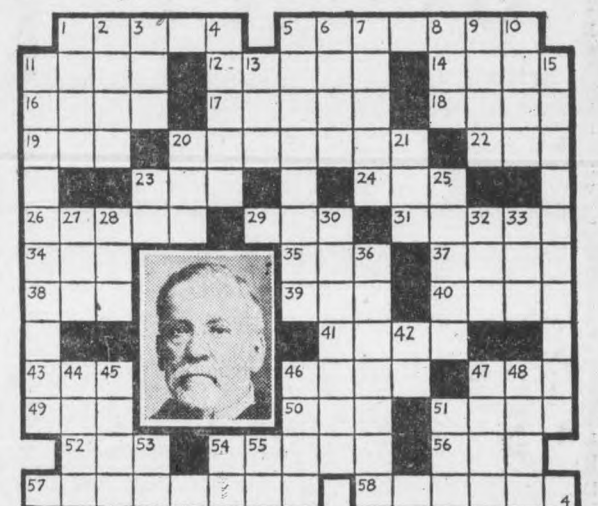

Answer: Tell him that while you are waiting for him to make up his mind you will be looking around at the other lads. Nothing will help to clarify his feelings as much as thinking there is a chance of losing you.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My boy friend and I were soon to announce our engagement, but now because he is drafted he thinks we should wait until he gets back. He believes I should be free during the time he is gone. If he really, honestly loves me, how could he say this? DOUBTFUL.

Answer: He can say it because he is a fine, honorable gentleman and he is trying to do what will be best for you. Can't you understand an unselfish love? He wants you to go about and have a good time while he is gone and he trusts your loyalty.

You will make a great mistake if you don't understand his broad-mindedness and meet it halfway. That sort of man doesn't understand petty jealousy. DOROTHY DIX.

Up to Joint Defence Board, Says King

Denies Canada Stalling On B.C.-Alaska Highway

Canadian and Associated Press
Anthony J. Dimond, Alaska delegate in the U.S. Congress, claimed in an interview in Washington that the Canadian government is "stalling, delaying and procrastinating" in negotiations to bring about the construction of a $25,000,000 highway from the United States to Alaska. This brought a quick denial from Prime Minister Mackenzie King, a visitor today in Edmonton, in the course of a tour across Alberta.

Mr. King said the highway project is in the hands of the Canada-United States permanent Joint Defence Board.

There were many preliminaries that had to be attended to, but there was no "stalling" by Canada as charged by Mr. Dimond, the Prime Minister said.

Mr. King said he had no desire to comment on Mr. Dimond's remarks other than to state that the Joint Defence Board was dealing with the question and that there was no hostility and no intentional delay on Canada's part.

INFORMATION NEEDED

In Ottawa officials today said it was understood completion of engineering data on the two proposed routes for the Alaska highway through British Columbia was delaying the report of the Canadian section of the Alaska Highway Commission.

Hon. Charles Stewart, chairman, said in Edmonton the Canadian commission was restricted to consideration of British Columbia routes and the prairie or inland route had not even been considered. That did not mean the inland route had been rejected, however.

Mr. Stewart added the commission had completed its investigation of the proposed British Columbia routes and would file its report at Ottawa within a month. (British Columbia engineers have been completing surveys of snow levels in the higher passes.)

In the course of his interview Delegate Dimond said in Washington:

"The Canadians are stalling along and not doing anything toward getting this necessary highway started. I have no official information on which to base my belief, but I know it is true. Canada just will not say 'we won't co-operate' but just keeps postponing and postponing."

NO AUTHORITY

"The Canadian-Alaska Highway Commission came here for a conference and it was easy to see it had no authority to commit its government to anything. The fact the Canadians have done nothing is proof my statement is true."

"Congress would agree to the proposal to construct this highway in a minute if Canada would co-operate."

Dimond said Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Premier of British Columbia, is enthusiastically in favor of construction of the road and had been "fighting shoulder to shoulder with me for years to bring about its construction." The delegate said Pattullo had been "unable to get anywhere with his national government."

Refugees to Move In Vichy Vessels

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several thousand war-stranded refugees may be able to leave Morocco with the resumption of sailings by Vichy French vessels between North African ports and the United States under the new trade arrangement between the American government and French north African colonial authorities.

A number of citizens of American republics are among the more than 2,500 refugees now stranded in Morocco—after having been shunted around Europe and Africa for months—and their departure would settle a vexatious problem between the Vichy government and several Latin American nations, particularly Argentina.

Officials here said today that, if the French vessels assigned to the trade route have the necessary passenger accommodations, they saw no reason why the Latin Americans, as well as some of the refugees who have valid U.S. visas, could not sail on the ships.

Australia's Bank Gets New Governor

CANBERRA (AP)—H. T. Armitage, acting governor of the Commonwealth Bank, has been appointed permanent governor in succession to the late Sir Harry Sheehan.

Labor members of Parliament applauded when Prime Minister Menzies made the announcement. Mr. Armitage, who is 60 years of age, was the first accountant when the bank was founded in 1915.

At the same time A. W. Fadden, federal treasurer, in a statement discussing expansion of the bank's credit, said the need for increased community spending power over what natural processes provided was the measure of the extent to which the Commonwealth Bank could provide directly for the government's financial needs.

He added that the 1940-41 budget provided for total war expenditures of $186,000,000 ($642,000,000 Canadian) of which $143,000,000 would be spent in Australia and $43,000,000 abroad. This year's expenditures would be $250,000,000 ($825,000,000 Canadian).

OAK BAY THEATRE LEASED BY ODEON

July 14 has been set as the date when the Odeon people will take control of the theatre.

There will be no change in the personnel of the theatre, Mr. Castle remaining as manager.

Policy of the theatre will be announced in the near future, Mr. Booth said, adding that patrons could look forward to seeing the best in British and Hollywood productions.

Canada's 25-pounders Are Fired

First all-Canadian field gun and carriage was formerly dedicated on July 1 to the service of the country at Sorel, Que., by Justice Minister Lapointe, in the presence of government officials, army officials and several hundred prominent civilians. The gun dedicated was one of six ready to be turned over to the Canadian army. The guns, top, are shown here being fired for the first time. "Great service in the battle for freedom" will be rendered by the guns, said Defence Minister Ralston, who flew to Sorel for the ceremonies.

Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply, said "until the day of victory dawns, the workmen of Sorel will stand shoulder to shoulder with the men of Canada's armed forces in the battle for freedom."

Premier Godbout of Quebec said production of the guns, the work of a factory where 85 per cent of the workers were French-Canadians, proved "French-Canadians have no less talent or courage than anyone else."

Edouard Simard, one of the owners of the factory, said "to those who maliciously accuse our race of being fifth columnists you have proved that in reality you are five columns of work—the builders of field guns, naval guns, corvettes, minesweepers and 10,000-ton freighters."

Many more guns, still on the assembly line, will follow the

Australia Studies Gasoline Reserve

CANBERRA (AP)—The Minister of Supply, Senator G. McLeay, is obtaining full information on the gasoline position following charges the government is not making an adequate effort to build up security stocks.

Senator McLeay is investigating the use made of tanker space, source and imports and also the possibility of importing more gasoline in drums from the United States or the East Indies.

It was said the government is making the strongest possible representations for the release of more tankers to carry all classes of petroleum products.

Three additional tanker voyages have been allotted to Australia, two being aviation spirit and the other commercial spirit, which would increase stocks by 8,000,000 gallons.

The statement that tankers serving Australia have been diverted to Japan was denied.

N. SOMMERVILLE DIES IN TORONTO

TORONTO (CP) — Norman Somerville, former chairman of the central council and the national executive committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society, died at his home today after a heart attack. He was 63.

Mr. Somerville, prominent Toronto lawyer and a leading figure in Canadian affairs, especially Red Cross work, for a long time, was forced to retire as chairman of the council and executive because of ill health in the spring but his death was sudden.

Mr. Somerville was active throughout the first Great War in campaigns to raise men, money and munitions for Canada's war effort and when the present conflict broke out, his experience was extremely valuable in organizing Red Cross war services.

During the first Great War he was chief organizer of the 1917 Victory Loan campaign, and he made more than 100 speeches in the United States explaining Canada's position and needs.

He gave his services freely to the country in all his war work, and at no time received remuneration for that or his Red Cross activities.

Mr. Somerville was senior partner of Somerville and Company, Toronto lawyers. He served as chairman of the Niagara Parks Board in 1933 and was counsel to the special committee and the Royal Commission on Price Spreads and Mass Buying in 1935.

Gestapo Charge Thrown at Board

VANCOUVER (CP)—Preliminary hearing of Martin N. Jacoby, Vancouver jeweler charged with aiding and abetting Leo E. Morland of New Zealand to export 57 bars of gold from Canada, was adjourned to July 10 in police court yesterday after Defence Counsel A. G. Duncan Crux had accused the Foreign Exchange Control Board of using "Gestapo methods" in its inquiries.

Mr. Crux made his charge in connection with a sworn inquiry the board conducted into Jacoby's relations with Morland, now serving 14 years in McNeill Island penitentiary, Washington State, following his conviction at Seattle of smuggling gold bars into the United States. L. E. Priestman, board inspector, said Jacoby's counsel, Hugo Ray, had been allowed to attend the inquiry "merely as a courtesy."

"You have conducted the inquiry to suit yourself," Crux declared. "Never have I heard of such Gestapo methods in this country before."

He refused to retract his statement despite the protest of prosecution counsel J. R. Nicholson, who described the Foreign Exchange Control Board officials as "very reputable people."

Evidence at the hearing sought to link Jacoby with Morland, who was arrested when gold bars were found in his car while crossing into the United States near Blaine, Wash.
